

CRIPPEN IS TO HANG
NOVEMBER 15TH
FOR MURDER
OF WIFE

Speedily Found Guilty and Is at Once Sentenced by Chief Justice.

TRIAL OF FIVE DAYS

Jury May Have Recommended Commutation to Life Imprisonment.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, after a trial extending over five days, was today found guilty of the murder of his wife, an American woman, known on the stage as Belle Elmore. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who presided at the trial, sentenced Crippen to be hanged on November 15th.

There is, however, the strongest prejudice in England against executing a man on purely circumstantial evidence, and an incident at the close of Crippen's trial has caused the impression that the jury may have recommended a life sentence. After Crippen was sentenced, the foreman of the jury handed to the lord chief justice a note. After looking at the note, the justice said:

"That shall be forwarded to the proper quarter."

The "proper quarter" might mean the home secretary, who has jurisdiction to recommend a commutation of

The jurors refused to discuss the incident. A large crowd awaited the departure of Crippen from New Bailey. There were a few men who drove away to the Kentonville prison, but no other demonstration.

BELIEVES HIM INNOCENT.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—"My son is innocent, even though he stands convicted, and I firmly believe his wife, Belle Knappe, is living some where in London," said Myron A. Crippen, father of the convicted murderer.

"With tears streaming down his face, Myron A. Crippen, son of father of the physician sentenced today in London to be hanged, made this statement when the news was broken to him."

While confidence in the son is expressed, it is evident the aged man has no hope of the course of the law being changed.

In his hour of sorrow, however, he referred with pride to the early life of his son, and that as a child he had an unusual mind—that his desire for music conquered when his parents would not permit him to indulge his artistic taste, by making his own violin; also how at an early age he had entered the offices of the physician at San Jose, Cal., and received the rudiments of a medical education, which was completed at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dr. Crippen's son, who also lives here, has not called on the grandfathers for many months. The son is a young married man, employed in the postoffice. He has known little of the father as the early death of the mother lead to the two being separated.

RENO RATE ORDER IS EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 1

Interstate Commerce Commission Fixes Time on Freight Change.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Interstate Commerce Commission decided today that its order in the Reno rate case involving class freights, shall become effective on December 1st. Orders in other Pacific Coast cases involving improved ties will become effective within the next few months. The termination of the case affects all class freight on both eastbound and westbound traffic destined to Nevada points common to Reno. Material reductions were made on the class rates.

Really two cases were included in one proceeding, separate complaints having been instituted as to eastbound rates and westbound rates.

Vigorous effort was made not only by railroads but by some shipping organizations to secure a postponement of the effective date of the order from December 1st. It was argued that, inasmuch as no determination yet had been reached in the other Pacific coast cases which the commission heard last autumn, it

In the judgment of the commission, however, the current rate of inflation is such that the order was issued last spring to adjust themselves to the proposed lower rates.

Coincidentally came the announcement that the commission would make the order to be revised a few months later. In effect, the order was made effectively May 1 next. It is probable the order will be promulgated about March 1.

In all except the Hemo cases the law affected apply to commodities. The cases in question are the Spanish cases, the Mexican cases, the Puerto Rican cases, the Hawaiian cases and the Phoenix case, which involves alleged discrimination against Arizona points on commodity shipments from the east and from the west.

MARSHAL FREDERICK ON VISIT TO FRESNO ON DYNAMITE CASE

Hanford Officer Intimates That Suspect Knows About Times Disaster.

Gas Company Files Suit Against City of Hanford for Damages.

HANFORD, Oct. 22.—(Herald) Fredrick returned from Los Angeles this morning, having accompanied the two detectives and their prisoner, Morris Fitzgerald, to that city. Fredrick would not talk of the case, but intimated that sufficient evidence had been secured to warrant holding Fitzgerald as being connected with the blowing up of the Times building. Fredrick made a hurried trip to Fresno this afternoon, presumably on business connected with the case. An old valise which had been shipped by Fitzgerald to San Luis Obispo, was received in Hanford yesterday, and today was taken out of the express office by Steward Moore, of the Hanford and a gentleman supposed to be a detective in the case. The contents of the valise are not yet known. The total registration of Kings county reaches the 3300 mark, showing an increase of 806 registrations, including transfers, since the primary registration.

The Hanford Gas and Power Company has commenced suit against the City of Hanford for the recovery of alleged damages incurred by the payment to said city by the Gas Company of 2 per cent of its gross earnings since the sixth year of the life of its franchise. The said 2 per cent was paid by the Gas Company under protest. The damages asked for amount to $148,400.

Hanford won a hard-fought battle on the gridiron from Exeter High on the local field today. The score was 14 to 0. The line-up for Exeter was: Scrimmage, Campbell, M. Johns, Kolb, Buckner, Briner; half backs, E. Blincoe, C. Johns; three-quarters, Frederick, C. Wilkinson, C. Blincoe, Beck; full back, Captain Leggett; punter, J. Thorne; Boyd, Ganson, Johnson, Stone.

Exeter—Forwards, Wirth, Griggs, Kirk, Culbertson, Sterns, Pearson, Henks and Kauke; half backs, Brown and Jordan; three-quarter backs, E. Walters, Mackey, Davis and Buckman; full back, C. Walters; substitute, G. Woods.

It was learned today through Sheriff Buckner that Dick Ward, the murderer of Thomas Clayton, was seen last Tuesday in Mohave by Monte Leggett of this city. The story has not been verified as to the Mohave end of it, yet Sheriff Buckner is inclined to believe that it is true. If so, it is odd that Leggett did not notify the Kings county sheriff, as he had been asked to keep a lookout for Ward. The word came to this city through an officer in Barstow.

FLAMES DESTROY ROW OF EMPTY BUILDINGS AT PORTERVILLE

Circumstances Point to Case of Incendiarism; Loss Is Over $6000.

Auto Demolished in Canal; Orange Growers Plan Erection of Factory.

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 22.—(Herald) Incendiarism was heard in connection with a fire which broke out last night in three unoccupied buildings south of the city limits and which were at one time considered the restricted district after this city had been removed entirely from four blocks.

After being occupied for several weeks upon their completion last spring, these places were closed up by the activity of the county officials and by reason of a former unscrupulous reputation, have remained vacant more or less constantly ever since.

As accurately as can be learned from those first on the scene, the flames broke out at several places simultaneously, suggesting either spontaneous combustion, the placing of a bomb, or the use of incendiary material, or designs of those who wished to see the buildings burned. As the structures were outside of the city limits, the fire department was not turned out and no effort was made to save any of the three buildings.

Mrs. Nettie Smith, a Mexican woman, who was the proprietor of the houses when first built, was the owner of the buildings and sustains a loss of about $6,000. Although there was insurance to the amount of $4,000 on the houses, there is some doubt whether the policies can be collected.

Dick White, a teaming contractor of this city, was seriously injured, suffering a dislocated shoulder and extensive bruising last night while returning from Visalia. The machine, near Exeter, ran into an irrigation ditch, the bridge over which had been removed and no warning signs of lights displayed to show the bridge was gone. The machine, which was running at a brisk rate of speed, and driven by James Rohlich, proprietor of a local garage, is a complete wreck. Rohlich was unhurt except for severe bruises, as was Hugh Dixon, a member of the firm of the Marshall & Rigby Co., who was also a passenger in the machine.

White is in consultation with his attorneys this afternoon and asserts that he will sue for the accident and the responsibility for the accident can be fixed.

No insurance was carried on the machine which will probably be a complete loss and which represents a value of about $2,500.

Members of the committee of the orange growers of this section appointed to confer with regard to the proposal to erect here a factory which will be for the manufacture of food products from culled oranges, have decided that a cash capitalization of $100,000 is rather too large an investment to be contributed by any one community to an experiment, and the question of establishing such a factory has therefore been put up to the Exchange, which is a view to making a subsidiary corporation of that organization. The Exchange has already gone into the manufacture of box shooks and other incidental to the marketing of oranges and it is possible that they may be interested in the proposal to utilize the unsalable oranges in the manufacture of essential oils and foods. The committee dispatched a letter to the southern headquarters giving the plan in detail and asking for action on the proposal.

In case the Exchange handles the proposal, there is every likelihood that one factory will be maintained in the northern district and one in the south.

It is stated by the members of the committee that the chief drawback to the proposal is the fact that there is no manner in which the process can be patented and for that reason there would be only the protection of the investors that can be afforded by a mammoth selling agency which the Exchange already supports.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce met at the offices Friday evening to make formal arrangements for an exhibit which is to be placed and maintained in Chicago during November and December at the United States Land and Irrigation Congress. It is planned in a general way to install at the congress a fine showing of citrus fruits which will be constantly replenished from this district, the fair coming at a time when the early Washington navels will be in the very best of condition.

Special rates at which exhibits may be sent to the East have been granted by the express companies and it is planned to send enough oranges that a large number may be given away daily to those who may be later interested in the lands of this section.

A Taylor McGee, one of the widely known pioneer residents of this district, died last night at 11 o'clock at Santa Cruz, where he had made his home for the past year in a vain search for health, at the age of 74 years.

He came to California in 1859, coming overland with ox team, and eight years later settled in Tulare county. He accumulated a large holding of property during his long residence here and died possessed of a competency which will be divided between three daughters, Ada, Ruby, and Marion, and a son, James McGee, a resident of Kern City.

Strathmore has again exhibited every symptom of being a live community in planning for a Chamber of Commerce banquet which is to be held in the near future and which will be chiefly for the purpose of a wide discussion of the publicity campaign which will be waged in that community for the coming year. Strathmore has been organized but the Chamber has been organized but as yet necessarily small, but by activity of several of the enthusiasts it is hoped that a large number of the orange growers of that section will be interested prior to the proposed general meeting.

DR. BRUSH LECTURES ON PASSION PLAY

Religious Drama Could Not be Enacted Properly Elsewhere, He Says.

Dr. F. S. Brush, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Alameda, lectured last evening to the delegates to the synod, and the local Presbyterians and their friends last evening in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church, on the Passion Play at Oberammergau. The lecture was beautifully illustrated with a large number of stereoscopic views of the Passion Play.

In the course of his lecture Dr. Brush affirmed that nowhere else in the world nor under other circumstances could the Passion Play be enacted in the reverent spirit with which it is played at Oberammergau. It is played twice a year, once in the month of April and once in the month of October, and requires a day for its enactment. If the theater is not crowded, he stated, the actors do not hold the performance, for which they charge spectators prices ranging from fifty cents to two dollars a ticket. The theater holds 550.

An impressive feature of the evening was the singing of Novin's "When O the Cross I Turn Mine Eyes," during the examinations of the slides portraying the crucifixion.

DIRECTORS DID NOT AUTHORIZE WARNING

Editor of Fresno Republican:
Dear Sir:—In your notice today warning the public against an impostor, you quote me as acting under direction of the directors of the Fresno County Fair Society, in warning the public against the Rev. Daniel.

This is an error. The directors know nothing of the matter and gave me no instructions. What took place was a telephone conversation between the Rev. Daniel and your reporter that evening. The Rev. Daniel was in town again, soliciting donations of fruit for his so-called Home for Orphans, and I called on your reporter's attention to the article which appeared in your issue of the 22nd day of October. I informed him that Mr. Yates, the State Secretary of Organized Charity, with its office at Sacramento, had addressed the State convention of the humane societies at Pasadena, last month, and had reiterated a statement which appeared in the San Francisco Examiner warning that the collectors for this society were out collecting money for a very unworthy purpose and that the State society had failed to get from them any amount and he recommended that no support should be given to them, while on the other hand, he commended other societies that were doing good work.

Also, it was claimed that they had children and sold them to Chinese and it was a money-making scheme without any charitable or commendable results. Kindly make this correction.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM HARVEY, SR.

OIL OPERATORS ARE YET UNCERTAIN ON LAND WITHDRAWAL POLICY PROBLEM

Pierce Leaves Impression That Matters Are Yet Unsettled; San Joaquin Fields Have Produced So Far in 1910 as Much as All Last Year.

(Special Correspondence.)
BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 22.—Despite the fact that Assistant Secretary of Interior Frank Pierce has come to the conclusion that the oil men feel very little more secure than they did several weeks ago when the withdrawal orders were first announced, the distinguished Interior Department man has thus far not committed himself in any way on the subject and possibly will not for some weeks, maybe months, on the policy of the administration regarding the withdrawals.

Many of the operators have been assured personally and at public meetings that they will be given all the show possible by the department and that the so-called "land grabbers" who sought to control the greater part of the oil fields will be ousted unless they can thoroughly prove their claims. Many positive results are foreseen, but the fact of the operators is still in the balance and will remain so until such time as the policy is decided upon.

Operations in the West San Joaquin fields have been more brisk during the past week than a week ago and numerous operators there have bright prospects on their properties.

One of the most promising of the oil fields is the L. J. Adams field, which is south more than 2,000 feet on the south half of the northwest quarter of section 15-32-23, and is still going. In an attempt to reach greater sand it has been drilled to a depth of 2,000 feet and is showing very heavy oil in the lower part of the formation. The Adams field is being drilled by the Adams Oil Company, which is seeking a heavy sand, which if found will add immensely to the value of that territory where a number of good wells have already been brought in.

Prospects in the North Midway look bad for neighbors of the Union on section 10-31-22. The Union's Sheridan well is down more than 4,000 feet without finding paying oil sand. The well is being sunk deeper as an experiment. The world famous Lakewood gas field is slowly being worked out, according to all reports from the vicinity. The output is now estimated at about 12,000 barrels a month, which is about 12 percent water. A month ago the well was doing about 15,000 barrels.

Four hundred and twenty-eight oil companies are incorporated in the state of California and forty-five companies are incorporated in other states, principally Arizona. But all of which are doing business under the laws of California. They have paid to the state corporation taxes for the year according to a preliminary report recently by the revenue department. Many of the concerns are strong companies.

The P. W. Miller of the United States Geological Survey, in a report on the oil fields of the state, says that the oil fields of the state are showing a very heavy oil in the lower part of the formation. The Adams field is being drilled by the Adams Oil Company, which is seeking a heavy sand, which if found will add immensely to the value of that territory where a number of good wells have already been brought in.

fine producing well will result. The output now being sold as fast as can be handled. The No. 2 well has been completed.

The Continental Petroleum Company, on section 14-32-23, have completed the rig for the No. 1 well. The Continental purchased their land from the old Equitable Oil Company. The Equitable was one of the first companies in this part of the Midway field and drilled an old abandoned well which the Continental is now preparing to clean out and put on a producing basis. The company also has a derrick up for the No. 2 well.

The Pennsylvania Midway Oil Company, on section 15-32-23, are down 1,700 feet with their No. 1 well, and are shut down at present awaiting the arrival of a derrick.

The Sprague Oil Company on section 23-32-23, have completed their No. 1 well and are now preparing to drill their second well.

The four wells of the Globe Exploration Company, on section 15-31-22, are averaging from 80 to 150 barrels daily. The gravity is 16. The output is being sold on contract to the Standard Oil Company.

The Doherty Oil Company, section 15-31-23, have one completed well and one drilling which is now at a depth of 900 feet. This company also is selling under contract to the Standard Oil Company. The oil is 15.5 gravity.

The Dome Oil Company, section 23-31-23, have completed their No. 1 well, which is now making about 300 barrels daily of 18 gravity oil. The company has no market yet for its product.

The Santa Fe No. 3 on section 35-31-23, is in at 1,825 feet and was rated at a 12,000 barrel well. The hole is now sealing up and a cleaning out string of tools is being run.

The Union Oil Company has completed their Sage No. 50 on section 35-31-24. It is rated at 300 barrels. The well was brought in at 700 feet and is doing 16.1 gravity oil.

The No. 1 well of the Union Oil Company on the Sage property blew out early this week and sent the string of tools through the crown block. The top of the derrick was completely wrecked. The well did not flow very much oil, but is making a great gas pressure. The well has been capped and will be used to supply the Union's new camp and headquarters with fuel.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Forecast:
San Joaquin valley: Fair on Sunday,
moderate north winds.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

Fair and cool weather has prevailed during the last 24 hours from the Pacific to the Mississippi river, also along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts. Rain has fallen in the Ohio, Tennessee and middle Mississippi valleys and lake region but the skies are now clear over all these sections except the lower lakes, the storm having passed to Eastern Ontario. The cool wave has spread eastward over the great lakes and Ohio valley and low temperatures continue in the plains states but a change to warmer weather is in progress in the latter section. In California weather conditions remain practically unchanged except that fog has reappeared on the coast.

W. E. BONNETT, Local Forecaster.

IMPORTANT DEALS CLOSED IN CITY PROPERTIES

F. J. Dow Buys Deming Block From Lisenby for Sum of $40,000.

COOK BIG INVESTOR

Buys J Street Properties; Pays $10,000 for Two Business Lots.

Buying of Fresno business properties by local people is the operative feature of the real estate market at present and is looked upon as significant as indicating the future of business in the future of this city. Further, it is believed to present a promising picture in the future, and a large extension of the business section of the city.

President among the sales of the week is that made by A. V. Lisenby, who has just sold to F. J. Dow, the latter leaving in the morning property on Mariposa street between J and K streets for $40,000. The sale was made, closed yesterday. The property, now occupied by a shoe store, is owned by Lisenby and Lisenby. It is understood the Lisenby property on Mariposa street and the alley between J and K streets, will in time be used as a suburb. This was recently bought through Dow by Dow, but it is understood the sale was made through Lisenby, who is interested in a suburb that is being started at the expiration of the lease of the present tenants, that runs for some years yet.

COOK INVESTING
F. E. Cook has been among the prominent purchasers lately, having just entered on and practically closed a deal for the four lots on the north corner of J and Tulare streets, now occupied by a residence. The consideration is $10,000. The transaction was closed through W. E. Bush. The purpose for which the property will be held is not given out.

Cook a week or so back purchased two lots on J street between Merced and Tulare for the sum of $10,000. The lots were the corner of J and Merced, and the sale closed through Bush also. All these deals affect property either in the heart of the present business section, or on the edge of it, where interest is being stimulated by various building operations now going on.

The new building of the Fresno Theater company on J between Mariposa and Fresno streets, is progressing well with the brick walls practically completed. Installation of machinery is about all the work yet to be done on the new building of the Republic, which will be occupied shortly.

GENERAL DEMAND GOOD
General demand for real estate is reported good by the dealers, but alfalfa and general farming lands seem to attract most interest. However, some good sales of vineyard properties are reported for the week, and indications are that the rest of the year in dried and green fruits has brought purchasers to look with more interest on both orchard and vineyard properties.

H. H. Alexander reports the sale of several small pieces of land, including alfalfa. These are Forty-acre and thirty-acre tracts. The Forty-acre tract is situated near Harlow for $1500, thirty-acre of orchard and vineyard near San Joaquin for $2500. The same firm has also sold two pieces of city property, one being a lot on Forty-five street, five acres, situated in the southwest of Fresno, for $2500.

General indications are said to be good for a very large influx of people here during the winter, the statement being based on figures furnished by the railroad people, showing that they have handled more passengers from the East during their fall season up to present than in any previous year. The importance of this is declared to be particularly large because of the desire on all hands to get new capital into the section. The immigration of one good family is looked on as better than almost any amount of trading among local people who have their capital already tied up in lands or other property in this valley.

A. V. Lisenby, who is contractor, who received the contract for the erection of the new brick stable for W. L. Kline, on Fourth street between E and F, has the foundation dug and is getting ready to put in the concrete. The heavy masonry will be in every particular, and the brick structure will add to the attractiveness of that neighborhood.

The Hall building on E street, Coalinga, is nearly a completion, and it is expected that other buildings will soon be started in the burned district adjacent to it.

The Berthelme block, on the corner of Fifth and I streets, Coalinga, has part of the walls up and good progress is being made. Stewart L. Vane is the contractor for this block.

FRESNO WOMAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Miss Louisa A. Almgren Succumbs to Acute Appendicitis; Had Many Friends Here.

Just fourteen months after the death of a sister, Miss Louisa A. Almgren, a stenographer of this city, aged 24 years and 8 months, died yesterday at noon at 1577 K street, following a sudden attack of acute appendicitis. She was a native of Fresno county, having been born and reared at Colander, at which place she graduated from the grammar and high schools. She leaves a mother, brother and sister to mourn her loss. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the United Presbyterian church at Easton. Interment at Laurel Hill cemetery.

Miss Almgren was known to her city as a stenographer at the Fresno Home Packing Company's office. She was taken suddenly ill last Tuesday, and although everything possible was done for her, death ensued yesterday.

Deceased was born in Colander, where her mother, Mrs. S. A. Almgren, her sister, Anna H. and brother, Carl G. Almgren, now reside. She was educated in her home town, coming to Fresno later to attend business college here. She worked for the telephone company before accepting her position with the Fresno Home.

Miss Almgren was known to her many friends here as a particularly estimable young woman, whom to know was to love and respect. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, having united with the denomination at Easton when a little girl.

MUCH IMPROVEMENT WORK AT PARLIER

Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Joint Meets at Largely Attended Entertainment.

PARLIER, Oct. 22.—Many improvements are under way here. John Bohner is building a fine residence on his vineyard. J. K. Russell is putting up a neat cottage. The farmers of this locality are putting up many new barns and other outbuildings.

The social given last night under the auspices of the Parlier Camp of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Royal Neighbors to their friends was a big success. Over 350 people were present and the hall could not accommodate the crowd.

A musical and literary program of entertainment was given by Rev. A. J. Allen of Sanger was among the speakers. Later a line banquet was served in the lodge room above the hall. The tables, set for fifty, were filled five times.

The trial of Felix Hill will be held October 23th.

DEATH OF FATHER OF MIKE SULLIVAN

Deputy Sheriff Mike Sullivan yesterday received word of the death of his father, Joseph Sullivan, a resident of Merced. The deceased was one of the pioneers of the San Joaquin valley and was 77 years of age. Five children survive. These are Joe Sullivan and Mike Sullivan of Fresno, Mrs. J. C. Livers and Mrs. Mary Sullivan of Merced and Lawrence Sullivan of Tracy. Deputy Sheriff Sullivan left for Merced yesterday upon receipt of the sad news.

LADIES TO HOLD HEALTH AFTERNOON

On Thursday afternoon the home department of the Parlier Lecture Club will hold a "Health Afternoon," under the leadership of Mrs. T. J. Hammond. A trained nurse will give a practical demonstration of methods. Mrs. Dr. Walker will speak on the hygienic use of water and Miss Clara Percy Westphal will tell of the benefit of fresh air to children. In addition there will be musical numbers.

DIED

BECKWITH—At 465 M street, this city, October 22, 1916, Jas. M. Beckwith, wife of William Beckwith, aged 63 years, a native of New York.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence, Rev. Conley officiating. Interment at Mountain View cemetery.

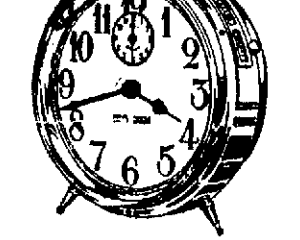

SULLIVAN—In Merced, October 22, 1916, Joseph Sullivan, father of Mike Sullivan of Fresno, aged 77 years.

ALMGREN—At 1577 K street, this city, October 22, 1916, Louisa A. Almgren, a native of California, aged 24 years.

The funeral will be conducted from the United Presbyterian church at Easton tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interment Laurel Hill cemetery.

MICHAEL—At 152 West avenue, this city, October 22, 1916, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Michael.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment at Mountain View cemetery.

IN THE LODGE ROOM

ORDER OF RED MEN
Pitchees Tribe, No. 144, of the Improved Order of Red Men, are planning to hold a dance and card party next Tuesday evening in their lodge rooms. Special preparations have been made to make the affair an interesting one, and a large crowd of Red Men and their friends are expected to attend.

The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock promptly in the lodge rooms in the Old Fellows' building at I and Merced streets.

REBKAHS
Fresno Rebekah Lodge last night made a success of its orphan home entertainment for the benefit of the home at Hill. The entertainment was held in Odd Fellows' hall, the principal feature of the program being a burlesque, "Over the Garden Wall," very cleverly given by local talent. This was followed by a social dance. A neat sum was realized in total receipts.

TUCSON, ARIZ., Oct. 22.—While on his way back hunting with his wife and children, J. D. Goddard, Southern Pacific car inspector, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. The gun was standing against the seat between Goddard and his wife. Death was instantaneous and the body fell out of the buggy.

There is nothing more popular this season than Persian effects—

This line comes in several very pretty colorings and makes especially pretty waists—also pretty for fine petticoats—If you appreciate a novelty—you should certainly see this line.

56-in All Wool Cloaking $2.00

All wool in an extra heavy grade—A pretty press finish—that is smooth and attractive—

We show it in the new grays and tans and we especially recommend it for separate coats—

Children's Millinery

Children's Fall Millinery has not been overlooked in assembling our millinery for women and misses. A full line of stylish and nobby millinery for the younger people now awaits your inspection.

We especially mention our heavers, priced at $2.95

Stylish Autumn Millinery

Space will not permit a detailed description of our various millinery displays that are now meeting with popular approval. With a comprehensive showing of both the large and small shapes, women generally are making their selections this season with very little trouble. Style, in our fall showing is not indicated by elaborate prices. Our line of $5.00 and $7.50 hats are, without a doubt, the correct illustration of the styles that will be the most popular this season. We are featuring, especially at this time, a very complete display of autumn millinery for immediate wear, which has met with the greatest approval during the last few days. Special attention is called to our line of untrimmed shapes which we believe is worthy of your inspection.

W. B. and La Vida Corsets

A "W. B." Corset is comfortable the day it is put on and holds its shape to the last day of wearing. It does not contour the figure by forcing it into a different outline from your own. It enhances all the curves you already possess and grades off irregular lines without straining either bust or abdomen. It is elastic, "giving," and yet made with every needed strength and durability. There is a perfectly fitting model for you in each quality. Prices start at $1.00

THE W. B. NUFORM

It is the mission of the W. B. Nuform Corset to help the figure. There is no such thing as a corset value unless the shape is right. It isn't what expensive a manufacturer puts into a corset, but the brains, the skill, the proportioning, that counts first, and it has been because the W. B. has always been the corset for style and comfort that it has become the corset for most women. It is possible to get the same materials, but not the same results.

THE W. B. REDUSO

The W. B. Reduso is as simple as any other W. B. Corset. It is scientific in that it accomplishes by its lines, curves, girdles, what other models bring about through force and straps and harness-like devices. It will render the figure from one to five inches less through the abdomen and hips, support where it is weak, strengthen the spine, throw back the chest, and especially subdue the fullness below the waist line.

OPENING SALE

Of Fresno's Largest---Central California's Grandest
San Joaquin Valley's Best

The Store of the People and for the People

Sale Starts
Monday, Oct. 24th

The builders have completed their labors and turned the new edifice over to us. Tomorrow we turn the building over to you. For years we have toiled to be able to give to the people of Fresno a store that would meet their wants in every way—how well we have succeeded we are willing to leave to you. We desire to thank the kind people of this county for the liberal support that they have given us in the past, and we hope to maintain the same confidence in the future.

Our aim will ever be to please you and at all times give you more for your money than you could procure elsewhere.

Our first big Opening Sale begins tomorrow morning, and we have prepared for your selection a grand aggregation of sterling values in every section of the big store.

Your Money's Worth or Your Money Back

Sale Starts
Monday, Oct. 24th

The Cash System has won out—the people now appreciate what we are doing for them in the way of prices—no credit store could live on the small ratio of profit at which we sell our merchandise—buying from first hands at the lowest cash prices and selling at a close margin—figuring on quantity not profit, places the Cash Store in a position to undersell all others.

During this big Opening Sale we have made still further concessions. Every department manager has marked his goods to do a large volume of business—not to show a big profit—but to introduce and make popular his department.

The big store awaits you tomorrow—every one is welcome—everyone will be amply repaid for his time.

Six Big Specials In the Suit and Cloak Department for the Opening Sale

FIGHT FOR ACADEMIC FREEDOM IS ON BY FACULTY OF SAN ANSELMO SEMINARY

LOCAL OPTION LAW IS DEMANDED BY SYNOD

To Memorialize Legislature in Behalf of Measure; Urge Temperance.

PLAN U. C. CLUBHOUSE

Odds and Ends of Affairs Disposed of in Closing Sessions of Body.

Temperance and educational matters occupied the fore part of the attention of the California and Nevada synod of the Presbyterian church in its closing sessions yesterday at the First Presbyterian church. As a consequence of action taken there, the legislature of California will be memorialized by the synod to take a stand in favor of the establishment of local option throughout the state. Efforts will be made to elect a favorable legislature. In education lines the synod favored the movement to establish at the University of California a clubhouse for the use of Presbyterian students at that institution, where they may live and through which they may maintain the religious atmosphere they enjoyed before attending the state university. It is hoped that a clubhouse, to cost not less than $400,000 may be built near the university campus within the next two or three years, and that this may be followed later by a similar structure at Stanford university.

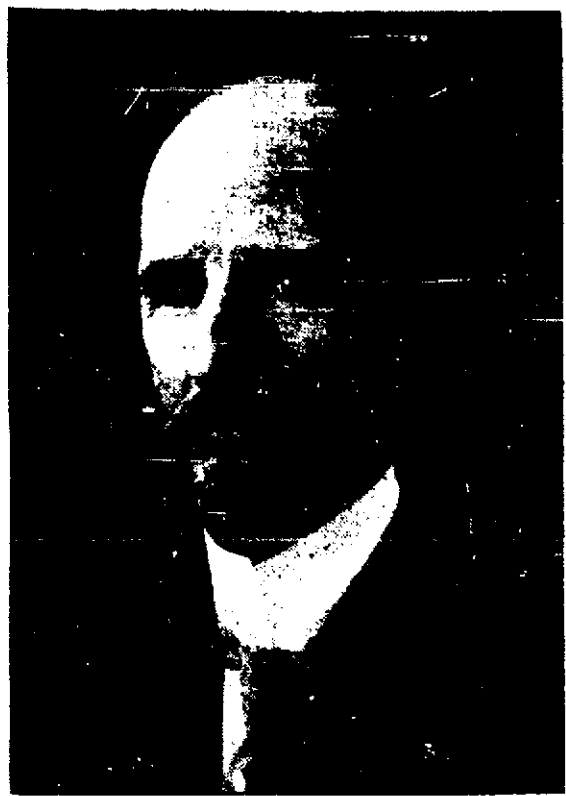

Yesterday's session was devoted principally to winding up the odds and ends of the business of the synod, which is considered one of the largest and best of the last twenty-five years. While the item of largest interest, the investigation into the teachings of Dr. Day, was unusual because of the clear cut lines on which the discussion was drawn, the controversy on less pronounced lines has appeared before at various times. No definite action was taken yesterday in regard to the final disposition of the case.

After the opening half hour of devotional exercises, the first matter of general interest was an address by Rev. A. Wesley Bell on the work of the American Bible society, in which he told of the progress of the work to disseminate the Scriptures.

An interesting aftermath of the Dr. Day investigation came up immediately.

SIGNIFICANCE OF SYNOD VOTE ON BIBLE

DR. DAY OF SAN ANSELMO THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

By Professor Thomas F. Day, D.D., Of the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Personalities aside, the proceedings in the Synod of California on Friday, October 21st, mark an important stage in the progress of thought along Biblical lines on the Pacific Coast. Every movement has its critical periods. Advance in new fields of investigation means that many rough roads must be traveled. Established systems may command the easy assent of untutored adherents, but new systems gain ground only by the hardest. It is well that it is so. Truth claims the enthusiasm of a man's deepest spiritual purposes, and the forth-putting of his most strenuous intellectual energies. Her rewards are for the men who give up all for her sake. She hides her secret from the intellectually lazy and from the morally insincere.

No wonder, then, that Biblical criticism should have to contend for its very right to be, on many a hard-fought field. Its career is one of the glories of the last two centuries. Beginning in the middle of the eighteenth century, with the French physician Astruc, to live an organic existence as an incipient science, it kept on its way, now banned and now blessed by the church, according to its attitude to churchly tradition. True to its character as a science, Biblical criticism has cared more for the facts discoverable in its realm than for the conclusions that speculative minds may draw from them. It modestly limits itself to its chosen sphere. It collects, classifies, analyzes the Biblical data. If they seem to confirm the special type of doctrine that happens to be in vogue, all goes well. The early Biblical critics maintained that Moses wrote the first five books of the Old Testament. But when a new generation of critics arose, who pushed their investigations further, they divided, some affirming and others denying that the Pentateuch could be Mosiac.

No other Biblical problem demands, or has received, so much painstaking research as the Pentateuch problem. Why was it so difficult? Just as men believed, for long centuries, that the sun revolved round the earth, so they believed that Moses was the author of the Pentateuch, and for the same reason, viz.: that the facts all seemed to point that way. The struggle between the American and the Ptolemaic theories of astronomy was a struggle between reality and appearance. The same is true of the rival Pentateuchal hypotheses. Somehow the reader gets the impression from his ordinary, non-critical reading of Exodus and of Deuteronomy, that he is dealing with the product of Moses' own pen. But when the inquiry goes below the surface, innumerable difficulties appear. Whoever would know the extent and significance of the problem will have to consult the later Bible Dictionaries and Commentaries. It is enough to say that the non-Mosaic theory regarding the Pentateuch has won the day among scholars. But the rank and file of Bible students are naturally afraid to accept a hypothesis whose basis seems to them so far removed from their own common-sense way of judging. If the book says that "Moses wrote all the words of his law," does not that settle it, if Jesus quoted from the Pentateuch, using such formulas as: "He (Moses) wrote of me," does not this, too, make the scientific theory look foolish?

Here is the crux of the situation. On the one hand, the scientific view has triumphed over the rough-and-ready view, and we are all gainers thereby. In many parts of the church the progress of criticism has been so great that strife has ceased. On the Pacific Coast, the questions have been slower coming to the front. We are a practical set of men. We have had neither time nor opportunity for extended research. The inevitable result, only the few whom profession duty or personal taste has led to the study of these questions are ready to consider them on their merits. Other men will necessarily judge them according to standards with which they are familiar.

It is along this line that we must proceed when we seek to estimate the vote taken at the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod on Friday. One hundred and sixty-eight men disapproved of the teaching that Moses was not the author of the Pentateuch. An analysis of this vote by methods of experimental psychology would be most interesting. It might be found that in the case of most of the voters the determining factor was the conviction that Moses must have been the author, since this is the dictum of their unsophisticated reason acting upon the data which lie upon the surface. No critical view which runs counter to these plain surface indications could stand for a moment. To admit its possible truth would be to them irrational. And since they are set us quarantines in the truth as they see it, such admission would be in their eyes, morally wrong.

Moreover the standards of the church, being interpreted naturally and necessarily in harmony with their views (which but recently were well high universal held by Christian people), seem to stand like a mighty Gibraltar, to oppose the advance of the newer view.

We must deal justly with such men as these. We ought to allow that they have acted according to their light. Were they mistaken? The ninety-two men who voted on the other side, followed the light that was in them. Was it a clearer and fuller light? One of the early church fathers used to say: "I believe, because it is

SEMINARY FACULTY RANGED AGAINST THE SYNOD

Prior to Convention Passed Resolution Upholding Religious Liberty.

WHOLE BOARD THERE

Take Stand Similar to That of Stanford Members in Ross Matter.

It became known yesterday that the faculty of the San Anselmo Theological Seminary, the Presbyterian institution located at San Anselmo, before the meeting of the synod just closed, passed two important resolutions, one upholding the views of Dr. Day as contended on the floor of the synod, and one prophetic of a spirit of revolt among the faculty members similar to that at Stanford some years ago, when Dr. H. H. Howard and Dr. Ross of the Stanford University faculty were expelled for expressing views having many points of similarity to those of Dr. Day.

WORKING RESOLUTION. The first resolution stated that all members of the faculty of the seminary expressed their belief that "Every theological professor should be accorded the largest possible liberty in prosecuting the work of his department." The wording of the final clause is considered especially significant, because it covers not only matters of research and personal opinion, but the right to teach those views to the students in their charge.

All of the members of the seminary faculty were present when the resolution was passed, including Dr. W. H. Landon, president of the seminary; Prof. T. V. Moore of the department of systematic theology; Prof. Charles G. Patterson of the department of church history; Prof. Thomas F. Day of the Old Testament department, whose views and teachings were the subject of the inquiry; Prof. Edward A. Wicher of the New Testament; Prof. William Martin of the department of apologetics, and Charles G. Buck, instructor in vocal culture at the seminary.

NO ACTION YET TAKEN. No action has yet resulted from the condemnation of Dr. Day's views on many subjects by the synod. There was some discussion among the directors of the seminary as to whether or not his resignation should be asked for, but no decision was reached in the informal consultations held on the subject.

Impossible. Of this minority in Synod some would rather say: "We believe what seems to others impossible because a more complete induction of fact constrains us." Can they be blamed for so declaring? Others of this minority could only say: "We do not accept the non-Mosaic theory of the Pentateuch, but we tolerate it in those who can accept it." They could not say this if they did not believe that the creed of the Presbyterian church is liberal enough to include the scientific view.

Thus we see that the question narrows at last to technical portions. Do the official standards of the Presbyterian church, the Confession of Faith, and the Catechisms, the Longer and Shorter, permit men of such divergent views touching the authorship of the Pentateuch to co-exist together in peace? The majority said "No," the minority "Yes." It should be added that the emphatic negative applies more particularly to those who teach in theological seminaries, while the char-act of the affirmative includes under its mantle of toleration theological teachers as well as ministers.

A study of the vote reveals a wavering front at times. In the ranks of the opposition. That is, in the case of the vote on Jonah. The minority gained sixteen votes over its original ninety-two, and won by a single vote. That is, one hundred and eight men affirmed that a theological teacher has a right to teach that the story of Jonah is or may be a parable, while one hundred and seven held that he is true to his official responsibilities only when he presents it as a literal record of historical facts. This and other similar features of the vote show that some minds at least were uncertain how far their opposition to critical views should extend. On further examination of the fact, it is probable that these men, and in time still others, may reach the point where they can stand on the same platform of toleration with the pioneer band of ninety-two.

Surely the mind that was made for truth can not forever be in free course. We may confidently hope that the ecclesiastical liberty won by Christian scholars in Scotland, England, Canada and the Eastern sections of our own country will not long delay its coming to our Western coast, where, strangely enough, the paradox presents itself of a church more conservative as a rule than may be found elsewhere, surrounded by conditions that in other spheres—politics, literature, education—make for the greatest possible freedom.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE FOR SANTA FE ROAD

VISALIA, Oct. 22.—A new time card on the Santa Fe will be out in a few weeks, at which time four new trains will be put on, making the trip between Fresno and San Francisco, and Corcoran and San Francisco via Visalia.

While the arrangements are not complete it is understood that a train will leave Visalia about 7 a. m. for the bay city, arriving there about 2:30, and another will leave San Francisco about 4 p. m., arriving here about 11:30 p. m. These trains may stop in Visalia, but more likely will run to Corcoran.

The other trains will be run between Fresno and the bay. All four trains will be handsomely equipped and appointed.

WANTED! Young Men and Women

Young men and women who have had some experience or knowledge in a business way are in demand. THUNDER FEET OF VERY LIGHT OIL SAND PIERCED IN NEW TERRITORY

Southeastern, Proving Up New Coalinga Belt, Expects to Have Well Finished in 60 days; Pluto Near the Oil Sand, Belief; Light Oil Section.

(By Guy H. Salisbury)

COALINGA, Oct. 22.—The Southeastern Petroleum Company, section 18-20-16, drilling well No. 1 in the northwest corner of the section, has gone through 100 feet of exceptionally light oil sand, showing up to be a very light oil. Superintendent T. J. Whaley states that he expects to finish up this well within the next sixty days. There is 3420 feet of 12-inch casing in the hole. The water was cemented off at that depth. They are now drilling in the heavy 14-inch casing. The combination rotary standard rig is completed and will carry the rotary to 2100 feet and set in the 12-inch casing. The work done by the Southeastern has proven up a great stretch of territory to the east and south as far as the railroad track. The patch of the sand and shale indicates flattening out to the east and south along the anticline.

The Coalinga Anticline Oil Company, section 20-20-16, is building a combination rotary standard rig on the southwest quarter of the section. The heavy rig from west last week. J. H. Bailey, president, was in the field last week directing the work. This property lies on the east slope, or light oil side of the Coalinga anticline, which extends from the northwest line of the Standard, on section 18-19-15, down and through the east side of the Kittlemen Hills, in a southeasterly course to and through the Lost Hills in section 19-20-21. Several expert geologists who have examined the territory through which this anticline runs express the opinion that it is one of the most prolific oil fields in the entire district. Today there are a number of strikes strong along the anticline. In the Kittlemen Hills section are all the best slope of the anticline.

The Pluto oil company, section 18-20-16, is drilling well No. 1 in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter. The well is now 1000 feet deep with 12-inch casing. The casing is set in the 12-inch casing. The water was cemented off at that depth. They are now drilling in the heavy 14-inch casing. The combination rotary standard rig is completed and will carry the rotary to 2100 feet and set in the 12-inch casing. The work done by the Southeastern has proven up a great stretch of territory to the east and south as far as the railroad track. The patch of the sand and shale indicates flattening out to the east and south along the anticline.

John Hendrickson and Bill Bailey have moved the rig and installed the heavy rig on section 18-20-16, to section 20-20-16. Last fall district there are about thirty-two men from this district interested in the Lost Hills. Some have located claims since the first excitement, after the strike by Martin & Bailey in the Lake Shores well. A few had made locations some time ago. A very few have acquired patented land, all are after oil, many after business in the new town. Tom Finn and Ed Bush of Hanford have moved in a portable rig onto section 22-20-31, and will try for a discovery at once. The Electric Oil Company, section 20-15, has tested the cement job in well No. 1 and find the water shut off in good shape. These people are drilling into the day sand with 6 1/2 inch casing. Well No. 2 was drilling with the rotary. When the shaft became too hard for profitable work, Superintendent Mason hung up the rotary. As soon as well No. 1 is completed he will start the standard 12-inch casing.

George Schumann, at one time in charge of the Pittsburg property on section 24-19-15, now owner of the northwest quarter of section 18-19-15, has material on the ground for a combination rotary standard rig, and material on the well for the buildings needed. Mr. Schumann's experience with the Pittsburg property has given him confidence in his property, which he will drill within the next few days. He is now drilling in section 18-19-15, in section 398, United States geological survey.

The W. K. Oil Company's well No. 2, section 20-20-15, drilling with the rotary, is over 1719 feet deep. Well No. 1 is 1220 feet deep with 12-inch casing. Well No. 2 is 1719 feet deep with 12-inch casing. The company is drilling a twenty-four inch hole for the help that will be made in the future.

The British California Oil Corporation Limited's well No. 1, section 18-20-16, is drilling with the rotary, is over 1719 feet deep. The company is drilling a twenty-four inch hole for the help that will be made in the future.

The Silver Tip Oil Company's well No. 2, section 18-21-15, is producing about eighty barrels per day of light oil, 29 gravity. Well No. 1 is making about 200 barrels per day. This high gravity oil from section 6 is selling for 80 cents per barrel for refining. As the oil "breaks" easily it is sought by refiners. Reports from the last directors' meeting are to the effect that a 2-cent per share dividend will be declared monthly.

The Western Pipe and Steel Company has completed their second 55,000 barrel steel tank, on its contract with the Producers' Transportation Company. On the third tank the bottom was lowered last week. They have laid the first and third course and are working on the fourth course. This tank will be completed by October 25th, weather conditions permitting. Everything appears to be quiet at the tank camp.

The Light Oil Extension Oil Company, operating on the southwest quarter of section 6-20-16, has well No. 1 1866 feet deep with rotary, and has set in the 12 1/2 inch casing. These people are changing over to standard tools and will finish the well with the standard.

The Turner Oil Company's well No. 1, section 20-20-15, is about 3420 feet deep and will be cemented off at this depth and the water shut off. This is light oil territory and this depth indicates 29 to 31 gravity oil. Well No. 2 is producing about 400 barrels per day, 22 plus gravity.

The Empire Oil Company's well No. 1, section 32-19-15, is producing 225 barrels per day. Well No. 2 is 2430 feet deep with 8 1/2 inch casing. Well No. 3 is 2310 feet deep with 8 1/2 inch casing. Well No. 1 was completed at 2690 feet with eighty-six feet of oil sand all told.

The L. D. Oil Company, section 18-20-16, has a full heavy rotary rig on the southwest quarter, one on the southeast quarter and one on the northwest quarter. All water and oil lines are laid and everything ready to start operations.

The Electric Oil Company, section 6-20-16, has three complete standard rigs ready for the drillers, one on the northwest quarter, one on the northeast quarter and one on the southwest quarter. This is light oil territory, on the east slope.

The Confidence Oil Company, section 31-18-16, is 1144 feet deep in well No. 1 with 10-inch casing and has shut off the water at this depth in thirty-seven feet of heavy blue shale. The hole is now on top of the oil sand and the workmen testing as they go down before landing the casing.

Jim Walp is now in charge of the drilling for the Electric Oil Company, section 14-21-15. This company had some trouble with well No. 1. The indications and showing in well No. 1 justified the company in the drilling in well No. 2.

The Pulvador Oil Company, on the southwest corner of section 2-21-15, has received the rotary and installed the same and will drill in this week. The combination rotary standard rig was finished fifteen days ago.

The Section Eight Oil Company's well No. 1, section 20-21-15, is 2150 feet deep with 12-inch casing, standard tools. Well No. 2 is 800 feet deep with rotary, going a little slowly at present.

The Castle Oil Company's well No. 1, section 4-20-15, is 2474 feet deep with 10-inch casing, one of the longest strings of 10-inch casing in the field, pipe free in the hole. Formation, sand and blue shale.

The Republic Oil Company, section 22-19-15, is in the oil sand with well No. 1 at 2530 feet. Considerable gas from the water out of the hole on one occasion.

The DeLuxe Oil Company, section 6-21-15, has well No. 2 2530 feet deep with 6 1/2 inch heavy casing. Well No. 1 is producing 200 barrels per day, 17.50 gravity.

SYNOD DEMANDS LOCAL OPTION

ly after this address, when it was formally resolved to record on the minutes of the synod the votes for and against Dr. Day with the names of the voters, thus placing on record the views of the ministers of the synod, who number over two hundred.

TEMPERANCE PROGRESS.
Special interest was attached to the report of the permanent committee on temperance, which was unanimously adopted. The report stated that the tide of public sentiment against the beverage liquor trade and in favor of total abstinence continues to rise. The leaders in medical science, the documents, who have been allowed the use of alcoholic liquors in small quantities, now recognize that even in the smallest quantities alcoholic beverages injure the body.

In the commercial and industrial world, stated the report, public opinion recognizes that the beverage liquor trade is diametrically opposed to real progress. Special citation was felt that every year more magazines and newspapers are added to the list of those that will not publish liquor advertisements, and which treat the reform movement fairly in their editorial and reportorial columns.

In the political world, stated the report, the temperance issue is regarded in many respects as the chief issue of the day. It was a live issue in the last national Congress, and even Speaker Cannon left the chair of the House of Representatives to speak in favor of the "Knox C. O. D." bill. This bill, which passed the House after Speaker Cannon's address, and which is in effect a prohibition "collect on delivery" shipments of liquor from one state into another in which prohibitory laws have been passed. In all cases the liquor must be paid for in advance, and must be labeled plainly with its contents, instead of being contained in plain packages. The liquor also must be receipted for by the person who ordered and paid for it.

The Knox bill, stated the report, has dealt a heavy blow to the "express office jug trade."

STRICTER LAWS DESIRED.
The next step desired, continued the report, is the granting to each state where prohibitory laws have been enacted, full police power over all shipments, with the abolishing of collecting revenue from those who sell liquor in violation of the local laws by interstate methods.

The report then went on to state the progress made by the temperance advocates in various parts of the country, and asserted that there has been no tide setting against prohibition although in some states changes from prohibition to local option had given rise to such ideas. Considerable satisfaction was derived from the fact that increasing numbers of Christian men are taking an interest in politics, resulting in a strong tendency for better things in civic and national affairs.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.
The synod warmly endorsed the report of the committee and also passed a resolution to memorialize Congress for more stringent laws regarding the liquor traffic existing through the express offices in states where prohibitory laws are in force. The work of the Anti-Saloon league in this state also was endorsed in this connection.

A resolution was passed recommending the printing of the report and its distribution in the furtherance of the temperance work. Heartily appreciation was expressed of the work done by Miss Marie C. Biehler, who represents the General Assembly in these matters in the synod here.

WANT PAPER TO HELP.
The synod also incorporated in the resolutions that the General Assembly committee on temperance arrange with newspapers all over the nation to publish supplied articles on temperance, on the same plan by which the Labor department of the Home Missionary board has succeeded in having published articles on their work in the labor union periodicals of the country. The resolutions also urged that the pastors of the synod acquaint themselves with the conditions in the public schools of their own localities to see that the teaching of scientific temperance is properly treated. The Presbyterian General Assembly's deliverance on the matter was endorsed, and it was stated that the Presbyterian church must press on as one of the most active and persistent enemies of the liquor traffic.

The moderator and vice moderator of the synod, and members of various committees were given the thanks of that body. The reports of various committees, covering many branches of work of the synod were read and approved.

A prominent committee on missions of the Cumberland Presbyterian church was appointed, consisting of Revs. J. W. Mount, A. M. Brewitt, E. L. B. McClellan, J. M. Webb, H. F.

THE HISTORY AND EFFECTIVENESS OF VACCINATION IN SMALLPOX CASES

No Fact Has Ever Been More Thoroughly Proved, Says Health Officer in Paper Read Before San Joaquin Valley Medical Society.

At a recent meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Medical Society a well-considered paper was read by Dr. Musgrave of Hanford, and it is herewith presented in full because of the importance of the subject and the urgent desirability of a correct popular understanding of the subject. The paper follows:

No fact is more thoroughly proved, than that vaccination is capable of effectually preventing the appearance and development of smallpox in man. It is equally true as well that Nature has given to but a few persons sufficient white corpuscles and germicidal power to resist the infection of the smallpox germ.

Before and up to the time that vaccination was first practiced, statistics show that more than 95 per cent of all persons suffered from smallpox. This malady was considered then a disease that everyone must have, on the same principle held not many years ago, and which no doubt some of our people even call to mind, wherein it was taught, that such diseases as chickenpox, mumps, measles, etc., were the lot of everyone, and at some time in their lives, sooner or later, they must have one or all of these diseases.

About the year 1800, when the practice of vaccination became general, smallpox at once began to decline. In those countries where vaccination is compulsory, smallpox has been almost eradicated. On the other hand, in those places or countries where the people, or at least a considerable number of them, are not vaccinated, we have here the standing evidence of the hopelessness in the prevention and spread of this loathsome disease. The reason for this no doubt is due to the fact that the smallpox germ can be dried and blown about; possessing also the ability of clinging to everything, such as clothing, bedding, etc., it remains its vitality for weeks and sometimes months. There is another thing that is peculiar and at the same time characteristic of the smallpox germ, and that is, that owing to its powerful infective nature, if one hundred unvaccinated persons are exposed to it, it can be safely asserted that ninety-five to ninety-eight of those who are thus exposed will contract smallpox.

The term vaccination has reference to "the inoculation of the body with the virus of vaccinia, or cowpox." The object of such inoculation is to secure immunity against smallpox.

ENGLISH DISCOVERY.

To Edward Jenner, an English surgeon of the last century, must be accorded the honor of introducing and establishing the practice of vaccination as a protective measure against smallpox. The history of vaccination is the that of many other important discoveries. It had a traditional existence from an earlier period, and had undoubtedly been practiced to a limited degree in other countries. Von Humboldt states that it had been known and practiced from an early period among the Mexicans. No one had given to the subject careful observation and study until Jenner, then a surgeon's apprentice at Stratford near Bristol, noticed that milkmaids affected with that disease, acquired an immunity from smallpox. From the time of his first observation, in 1788, to the date of his announcement of the result of his researches to the world, a period of thirty years was consumed in which time he had patiently and carefully investigated the subject both by observation and experiment. Dr. H. A. Martin says of him: "He was a truly great and philosophic man, worthy to be, as he was, the chosen pupil and lifelong friend of John Hunter. If ever a discovery was made to the world with due deliberation, it was that of vaccination. We have evidence that for at least thirty years, during which he encountered many perplexing and discouraging obstacles, and one by one mastered and overcame them, this mighty matter was in the brain of Jenner before he published 'An Inquiry into the Causes and Effects of the Variolæ Vaccinæ, a Disease Discovered in some of the Western Counties of England, Particularly Gloucestershire, and known by the name of cow-pox.' It was ten years after the discovery first suggested his attention that, in the year 1780, timidly, and under the seal of confidence, he revealed to his bosom friend, Gardner, his mighty hopes for the great good of his fellow creatures."

Such was the slow, careful, and painful deliberation, and the completeness with which the mind of Jenner moved to its great goal.

Jenner made his first vaccination upon the human subject in 1786, published the results of his inquiries in 1789, and established the first public institution for the performance of vaccination in 1789. The practice was introduced into Germany, France and the United States.

The following were the principal points which Jenner had established by his inquiries:

- (1) That the vaccine disease casually communicated to man was incapable of rendering him susceptible to smallpox.
- (2) That the specific cowpox alone, and not other eruptions affecting the cow which might be confounded with it, has this protective power.
- (3) That the cowpox may be communicated at will from the cow to man, by the hand of the surgeon whenever the requisite opportunity exists; and
- (4) That the cowpox, once engrafted on the human subject, may be continued from individual to individual by the same transmission, conferring on each the same immunity against smallpox as was produced in the one first infected directly from the cow.

PRACTICAL USEFULNESS.

The practical usefulness of this great discovery lies in the possibility of transmitting vaccine from the human being to another, or as it is quite largely practiced at the present time, from the cow to the human species.

Vaccinia, or cowpox, is communicable to man by inoculation, and may with equal certainty be communicated from the cow or from other human beings.

When fresh vaccine lymph is introduced into an unvaccinated person, either by puncture or by abrasion of the skin, no local effects are produced for at least 48 hours. The so-called period of incubation is brief. If it is a successful vaccination, about the end of the second day and at the site of insertion, there will be noticed a slight redness, accompanied possibly by some swelling. On the third or fourth day, little vesicle appears, filled with a clear liquid, increasing in size each day thereafter. As the efflorescence increases, this vesicle becomes umbilicated, similar in appearance to that of genuine varioloid. About the eighth day a ring of inflammation begins to form around the base. This condition, i. e., the vesicle and the areola, continues about the same until about the tenth day, when the vesicle begins to dry, and the areola commences to fade. The fluid of the vesicle, it will be noticed, now assumes a somewhat yellowish color, and in the center a crust begins to form. About the fourteenth day this crust becomes dry and hard, darker in color, this condition gradually continuing about the twentieth day, or possibly a little later, when it falls off, leaving a scar or cicatrix, which is usually permanent. The scar is somewhat depressed and circular in shape, the surface of which is indented, or as it is usually termed, pitted. The above description represents the usual course of a typical vaccination.

Accompanying this procedure there are usually some constitutional symptoms as a consequence, such as fever, restlessness, and possibly a slight disturbance of the digestive organs. Aside from this, there are usually no other marked disturbances, and in some cases hardly any noticeable effect is experienced. Infants, as a general rule, suffer less than children, and these less than adults.

Vaccination, like almost every important discovery, which has ever been made, has had its opponents from the very outset. After twenty-five years of patient observation, Jenner proclaimed his discovery, only to be met by ridicule and opposition on the part of a considerable number of his countrymen. "This same spirit of opposition has continued down to the present day, and has in some countries, particularly so in England, I believe in some parts of Germany, Switzerland and in the United States, a large following. Societies have been organized in Europe and in this country, the object of which is mainly to secure the repeal of all obligatory vaccination statutes, on the plea that such statutes are an infringement upon personal liberty. In fact, these societies have a large membership, and a great deal of literature has been published by them on the subject of vaccination.

OBJECTIONS MADE.

I have found during the seventeen or eighteen years that I have been a health officer, and also from my experience in two epidemics of smallpox, together with the information that I have been able to derive from those who are opposed to vaccination, that the grounds for opposition on the part of our anti-vaccinationist friends are based upon the following objections:

First—A just restraint or infringement of personal liberty.

This argument has been advanced by our anti-vaccinationist friends on the plea that it is contrary to all sense of justice and right that a person should be deprived by any quarantine, or even by law, of the right to pursue his daily vocations; when after having recovered from an attack of smallpox, up to and including the time of desiccation, and on the assumption that he has fully recovered from his illness, to restrain him by any further quarantine, an infringement of his personal liberty, and furthermore, that it is also an infringement of one's personal liberty, to be compelled by any process of law to submit to compulsory vaccination. Any hypothesis based on such deductions or arguments is fallacious, and a false right assumed by any person, and in defiance of the power delegated to a health officer, not only by our state, but by the nation as well, to quarantine any person afflicted with an infectious or contagious disease as a means toward protecting the public health. Dr. J. M. Toner of Washington, D. C., in his consideration of this particular claim, says: "The assumption that the individual has the right to protect, or to abuse and neglect, his health at pleasure is false in morals, and as we believe equally in opposition to social and statutory laws. And, as a numerous population is of the highest importance to the strength and welfare of a nation, it should be the anxious study of legislators to favor the enactment of such laws as will best protect the health and lives of the people. It is a well known fact in the economy of population, that the conditions which most favor multiplication of the human species, are health, the enjoyment of peace, and an abundance of food; and laws of necessity, the conditions which most seriously retard the increase of population, are pestilence and scarcity of food."

"The experience which has been gained in the subject of vaccination and revaccination, and its prophylactic effects, under the profession, in maintaining the confident belief that the individual, if he should be so inclined, upon the community with vaccination, and treated as a nuisance (as he really is, so far as the social interests are concerned), and be compelled to submit to vaccination, for his own safety and the protection of the public."

COMPULSION COMMENTED.

One of the highest authorities on public hygiene, John Simon, medical officer of the Privy Council of England, commands compulsory vaccination in the following language: "Persons unacquainted with the circumstances under which this law was made (referring to the compulsory vaccination law then in force in England), have doubted if it was not an improper restriction of personal freedom. It being assumed as the limiting principle of human law that men may be left free to follow every inclination which relates only to themselves, it would certainly seem forbidden to the province of legislation to insist on one's caring for one's own health; and if a man having smallpox could affect none but himself, little need be said against his right of having it as he thought. Even in this light, however, it deserves consideration, that he who judges a preference for smallpox does so as to the detriment of his neighbors; and as they often suffer by his infection, so they might reasonably claim to be heard on that question of his privilege. Still the main object of the obligatory law, as I understand it, is not to prevent adults from cultivating the disease, but to prevent a personal taste for smallpox. Its object is to prevent them from compelling (for, in this case, allowing amounts to compelling), their children to incur the worst perils of that disease. The interference of the law was an interference between parent and child, a kind of interference very sparingly exercised in this country, and the exercise of which, on slight grounds, would, of course, be intolerable. The practical justification of any such law depends on the amount of evil it is designed to correct, and four or five thousand annual deaths in England, by one specific parental remedy, contributed in this case a strong argument. The option which the new law restricted was not that of a conscious agent deliberately preferring for himself the dangers of smallpox, to the securities of vaccination. The thousands who annually died of non-vaccination had never raised their voice for the privilege of unrestricted smallpox. The so-called 'entirely' themselves to be vaccinated was that of exposing unconscious infants to become the prey of a fatal and mutilating disease. It was this 'entirely' of unconscious infanticide which this law took courage to check."

AS TO PROTECTION.

Second—As to the claim that vaccination does not protect from smallpox.

I am willing to admit, as has been the experience of other physicians, that the protection afforded by a single vaccination is not absolute. I might say as well also that not even smallpox itself is protective in all cases against a second attack. What is true of the other eruptive diseases, believe to be equally true of this disease. Subvaccination had never been practiced in early life, the mortality of children from smallpox, instead of being enormous as amongst those not vaccinated, is comparatively nothing. "We notice further, that where the vaccination of adults, as for example in the Prussian army, is performed regularly, the smallpox case no longer exists. The trial of vaccination in the Prussian army has conclusively demonstrated the efficacy of the measure, to test which we have only to compare the relative immunity of soldiers during the great epidemics of smallpox with the mortality in classes of the same general age in the civil community where vaccination is imperfectly carried out."

There is so much involved in discussing the "Protective Power of Vaccination," that a comprehensive consideration of this subject would necessitate a review of the reasons and benefits attained before and after vaccination was generally recognized and adopted. To the person who is interested, a perusal of any of the literature that has been written on this subject will afford sufficient evidence of the truth and correctness of this protective power. As great stress has of late years been placed on this second objection, I have deemed it better not to refer to any of the past statistics on this particular point, but to mention just a few instances that have occurred within our own memory as substantiating the claim that vaccination has a protective power.

STRIKING ILLUSTRATIONS.

During the Franco-Prussian war, in 1870 and 1871, all of the German soldiers were vaccinated, while only a portion of the French soldiers were vaccinated. In the French army there were 8,000 deaths from smallpox, and the French wounded suffered heavily from the disease. In the German army there were only 272 deaths from smallpox, and among the German wounded who lay in the same tents with the

HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT SEES "GUNBOAT" SMITH BEAT BROWN

Heavyweight Bout Lasts 4 Rounds; Oaklander Is Game to the Core.

(Special to the Republican.)
COALINGA, Oct. 22.—Before the large crowd of fight fans in the history of Coalings's open air arena, Gunboat Smith of San Francisco knocked out George Brown of Oakland in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round fight. Smith, a native of Los Angeles, knocked out Kilt Smith of San Francisco in the first round and Slim Wilson of Coalings in the second round. Brown of San Francisco in the fourth round.

The fight card was the best ever put out in the city. There was a knockout in every bout and the fighting was fast and furious from going to come. Only the gameness of George Brown of Oakland saved him from a knockout at the hands of Gunboat Smith in the opening round. The San Francisco heavyweight beat Brown in the first round and Slim Wilson of Coalings in the second round. Brown of San Francisco in the fourth round.

EVERY ONE ALERT.

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—Practically every inhabitant of the middle Canada, from the islands of the Great Lakes to the Arctic circle, however isolated, is on alert to ascertain the fate of the aeronauts who drifted away from St. Louis last Monday aboard the balloon America II.

Up to a late hour tonight no reassuring word had come through these rapidly growing clouds of search line. Alar, R. Hawley, pilot, and Augustus Post, aide, of the missing balloon have not yet been heard from. Weather conditions have been unfavorable today. Cold rain has fallen and it is probable that the more northerly region has seen some snow. From the Georgian Bay region promises of clear weather tomorrow come.

UTILITY MEN OF CUBS AND ATHLETICS. IF GIVEN A CHANCE, ONE OF THEM MIGHT PROVE TO BE HERO OF WORLD'S SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—The importance of having two or more utility players on a ball team was never more clearly shown than in the 1910 season. In a way the position of substitute on a baseball team is the hardest of all. The substitute gets his chance only once in awhile, and he is expected to do as well when that chance comes as the regular whose position he is called upon to take. Whether as pinch hitter or in the field no less is expected from his exercise of mental and physical faculties than if he were getting the training of everyday battling and ability to adapt himself to situations as they arise. Managers Chance of the Cubs and Mack of the Philadelphia recently stated that they would not part with any of the substitutes for the majority of regulars on other teams. Chance points to the fact that if it were not for Zimmerman, who replaced Evers at second; Archer, Kane and Beaumont the Cubs would not be playing the Athletics for the world's championship. Mack had three good ones in Molniss, Strunk, who replaced Aldring in center field, the latter being out of the game with an injury, and Houser. Molniss, according to Mack, is the most natural ball player he ever knew. He is the best pinch hitter on the team, and he can jump into the game with a moment's notice and play as well as any of the regulars. Should anything happen to one of the stars on either club the men mentioned are sure to be given a chance to shine, and who knows but what one of them might be the hero of the world's series?

BURNS OFF TO PORTLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—William Burns has gone to Portland in the hope of capturing David Caplan, the peddler whose name has been prominently connected with the investigation of the Times disaster since the finding of a cache of the dynamite in a South San Francisco cottage.

It was known yesterday that Burns had left the city, but he was successful in concealing his destination. In a search of Caplan's late holdings today, detectives found letters addressed to Caplan by Bryce, another of the men being sought in connection with the dynamiting. The contents of the letters were not disclosed.

TIGERS WIN FROM KINGSBURGITES 6 TO 1

Lefty Duncan Invincible; Fresno Team Plays at Hanford Today.

Tigers, 6; Kingsburg, 1. With Lefty Duncan, formerly of the Fresno City League, in the box, the Tigers walloped the Kingsburg team, 6 to 1, yesterday afternoon on the Kingsburg diamond. The Fresnoites scored four runs off McHenry in one round and Cowen was sent in. The locals batted Cowen hard. Duncan pitched a steady game and Fresno was never in danger of losing. A large crowd saw the contest. Manager Dickinson has a word of praise for the pitching of Duncan, who had his opponents at his mercy from start to finish.

The Tiger line-up follows: Kuhn, c; Duncan, p; Maul, 1b; Kelly, 2b; Brant, 3b; Schimpff, ss; Cardwell, Dickinson and George Smith, outfielders. Brant's hitting featured the game. With a strong line-up, in fact, one of the best of the season, the Tigers will invade Hanford for a double-header today. Artie Schimpff will pitch one game, and possibly both. Manager Dickinson may use Grover Brant in the afternoon. Buck Owens will catch and Preston, Kelly, Funk and Kuhn will be in the infield with Dickinson, Householder and Brant or Reuter in the outfield. Manager Sidney Jehl of the Braves will use Tripett and Buckles, both southpaws, in the box. As it is one of the best ball towns in the West, the double-header should attract two large crowds. Manager Dickinson is confident of winning both games.

SHORT-SIGHTED ECONOMY.

Many people injure their health seriously by trying to save a little money, says Orion Swett Marden in "Success Magazine." No ambitious person can afford to feed his brain with poor fuel. To do so would be as foolishly as for a great factory to burn bad coal because good coal was too expensive. Whatever you do, however poor you may be, don't stint or try to economize in the food fuel, which is the very foundation and secret of your success in life. Economize in other things if you must, wear threadbare clothes if necessary, but never cheat your body or brain by the quality and quantity of your food. Poor, cheap food which produces low vitality and inferior brain forces is the worst kind of economy.

There are lots of ambitious people with mistaken ideas of economy who very seldom get the kind and quality of food which is capable of building the best mind and the best brain. The ambitious farmer selects the finest seed of corn and the finest grain, fruits and vegetables for seed. He cannot afford to cumber his precious soil with poor seed. Can the man who is ambitious to make the most of himself afford to eat cheap, stale foods which lack or have lost their great energizing principle? Everywhere we see business men patronizing cheap restaurants, eating indigestible food and drinking, for instance, cheap, diluted or "doctored" milk, saving a little money, but taking a great deal out of themselves. The most precious investment a man can make is to be just as good to himself as he possibly can, and never, under any circumstances, pinch or economize in things which can help him to do the greatest thing possible to him. There is no doubt that the efficiency of numerous people is kept down many percent by improper diet. Many a man who thinks he is economizing in time and money because he spends only fifteen or twenty cents for his lunch may lose dollars in possible efficiency because of this short-sighted economy.

MATCH BIKE RACE IS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

Pete Stay and Steve Veolich Post Forfeit Money; Considerable Interest.

Pete Stay and Steve Veolich, the crack bicycle riders of Fresno who clash at the Fresno fair grounds track this afternoon in a match race for the championship of the city, last night posted their forfeit with the starting entry of the Republic. Each rider put up $25 in gold. This cash will go to the winner. The big event is billed to start at 2:30 o'clock and the distance is ten miles, non-stop. There is keen rivalry between the local lads and each has a large following. No admission is to be charged and picnic from the gossip about the bike riders yesterday there will be a large attendance when the event starts. Inasmuch as both will earn $1 for the win, it is likely that a new record for ten miles will be being out.

SANTA CLARA LOSES TWICE.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 22.—The Santa Clara baseball team was shut out by Stanford at Palo Alto today in a practice game, 9 to 0.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 22.—Stanford's second victory over the afternoon decedately defeated Santa Clara College by a score of 18 to 6.

BOWLING SEASON IS UNDER WAY IN FRESNO

Four Teams Are in Process of Formation and Tourneys Are Billed.

The bowling season of 1910-11 was formally opened in Fresno last night, and from now until next March the welcoming sound of the 16 pin ball, as well as the inviting lure of the alley, will be heard as they are rolled down the alleys. John Nash, last year's manager, is again in charge at the Brunswick alley. The six alleys will be put in the best possible shape and a refining points to the most successful bowling season in the history of Fresno.

Already several bowling teams are in the process of formation, including the Guardians, Brunswick, Republic and Tribunes. A half dozen tournaments are in sight. One of these will probably start next week. A tourney among the drunks of nine plus is also on the dope sheet. The annual wars between the Tribunes and Republicans will be pulled off early next month.

REPORT OF EARTHQUAKE.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 22.—Heavy earthquake shocks, the center of which was thousands of miles away in the southwest, were recorded on the seismograph at Santa Clara college last night and this morning.

THE ART OF MAKING GOOD CLOTHES

Clothes making is an art that is acquired by but a few. It consists of more than merely cutting up and sewing together of cloth. Clothes making as we understand it, requires years of actual experience and an expert knowledge of woolsens, and it calls for an artistic sense in designing and draping. We are post-graduates from the school of experience and possess every qualification of high class tailors.

The Best of Woolens
We take particular pride in carrying an unusual high grade of woolens and have gone to the the greatest mills in America, as well as to European mills, in order to secure the best that can be procured. All the latest novelties as well as staple cloths can be found here.

The Best Workmanship
We are experienced tailors ourselves and we employ the best workmen to assist us. There is not a feature about the making of clothes that we do not understand thoroughly. There are no better clothes made anywhere, than the clothes made by Hermann The Great, in Fresno.

SMALL AUDIENCE GREET BELL SPEAKERS AT THE BARTON

Judge Church Urges Vote

Frank E. Hering and M. B.

Theodore Bell.

The Democratic meeting at the Barton
house last night in the interest of Theodore A. Bell was attended by about 200 persons. The speaker of the house, Judge Church, urged enthusiasm shown and it was only after
a lengthy but eloquent personal appeal by Frank E. Hering to Theodore Bell that there was any semblance of order.

Judge Church E. Church of the local superior court, spoke in some length
on behalf of Judge James V. Coffey of San Francisco, the Democratic nominee
for justice of the district court at
the first district and paid tribute to the fact that Bell was the only candidate to have received a vote of 25,000 in the last election.

Mattison B. Jones, of Los Angeles,
was the first man to speak on behalf of Bell. He made a statement made by
A. J. Wallace that Bell was the only candidate who had received a vote of 25,000 in the last election.

Jones argued as his reason for this statement, the fact that Bell was the only candidate who had received a vote
of 25,000 in the last election.

He went on further to state that this was the only man who had received a vote of 25,000 in the last election.

Judge Church Urges Vote
on Behalf of James
V. Coffey.

Frank E. Hering and M. B.
Jones Talk on Behalf of Theodore Bell.

The Democratic meeting at the Barton
house last night in the interest
of Theodore A. Bell was attended by about 200 persons. The speaker of the house, Judge Church, urged
enthusiasm shown and it was only after
a lengthy but eloquent personal
appeal by Frank E. Hering to Theodore Bell that there was any semblance of
order.

Judge Church E. Church of the local superior court, spoke in some length
on behalf of Judge James V. Coffey of San Francisco, the Democratic nominee
for justice of the district court at
the first district and paid tribute to
the fact that Bell was the only candidate to have received a vote of 25,000 in the last election.

Mattison B. Jones, of Los Angeles,
was the first man to speak on behalf
of Bell. He made a statement made by
A. J. Wallace that Bell was the only candidate who had received a vote of 25,000 in the last election.

Jones argued as his reason for this
statement, the fact that Bell was the
only candidate who had received a vote
of 25,000 in the last election.

LARGE CROWD GATHERS; I. W. W. MEMBERS DO NOT SHOW UP

Two Arrested in Different Parts of City for Trying to Speak.

Secretary Little Is in Jail
for Drunkenness; 90 Days for Hooper.

Although a large crowd gathered to witness the scheduled clean sweep of the members of the I. W. W. and the police department, there was "nothing doing" at 1 and 3rd streets last night. The throng of curious people waited patiently for an hour, and when the scheduled "workers" failed to put in an appearance the crowd slowly dispersed.

While the squad of policemen was watching developments at 1 and 3rd streets, Frank Williams, an I. W. W.
"brother" from the Grand Central office, Williams began speaking to the crowd, and was just getting under way at full speed when a policeman charged him back. Approaching Williams, the officer asked him if he had a permit from the chief of police.

Williams replied that he didn't have
one. The officer then arrested Williams, locking him up at the jail on a charge of disturbing the peace. Williams protested loudly against the treatment.

At 8 and Mariposa streets, H. L.
Bresson, an I. W. W. tried to break up a Socialist mass meeting. When Bresson started to speak the crowd believed him to be a Socialist, but when his rapid fire was directed against the police, the audience objected and so did the Socialist speakers. An officer was summoned and Bresson was taken to jail for disturbing the peace.

About the same hour W. F. Little, secretary of the local I. W. W. organization, was arrested and lodged in jail on a charge of drunkenness. Patrolman Jim Cronkrite arrested Little.
Hooper, the I. W. W. who insulted
Mrs. Snow on Fresno street Friday night and tried to escape from Patrolman Hayes, the arresting officer pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace in the police court yesterday morning. Judge Briggs imposed a sentence of 90 days in jail.

Hooper pleaded for leniency from the court and finally appeared to Chief Shaw to no avail.

J. F. Hyde and I. G. Noble, the two members of the I. W. W. who were arrested for speaking on the streets
Friday night, appeared in the police court yesterday morning on a charge of disturbing the peace. Both were returned to jail in default of bonds of $250. The men asked for immediate release.

William Flanagan, another I. W. W., was relieved of a large revolver by Patrolman Lister last night. Flanagan, who is one of the four men arrested a month ago by Officer Pickens, approached Lister and stated that a man named Johnson had threatened to kill him. Flanagan said he purchased the gun to defend himself. Lister tried to find Johnson, but Flanagan could not or would not assist him and the officer then took the revolver away from the I. W. W. "worker."

After an illness of two weeks, Josie
M. Beckwith, wife of William D.
Beckwith, passed away at the family residence, No. 445 M street, yesterday morning. She was 62 years of age and a native of New York. A husband and four children survive. The children are Mrs. Francis Harbour of San Francisco, Mrs. George Smith of 1411 J street, Fresno; Frederick L.
Beckwith of Mitchell, Idaho; and Albert B. Beckwith of Fresno.

Mrs. Beckwith's maiden name was Josie Norris. She was born at West Chasey, Clinton county, New York, on June 30, 1847. In 1871, she moved with her husband and two children into Idaho county, Idaho, where she lived for several years. She then moved to the West country then swarming with thousands of Indians and buffalo.

Mrs. Beckwith came to Fresno September 8, 1901. For over forty-five years she was a member of the Epistalian church and until her death took an active interest in church affairs.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence, 445 M street. Interment will take place at Mountain View cemetery. Rev. W. H. Conley of the First Baptist church of this city will officiate at the service.

SEEDER DEFENDANTS
TO ASK FOR DELAY

The question of a continuance of a hearing on a preliminary injunction in the matter recently brought by the United Fruit company against the United Fruit company, and other outlets, is being argued today in the supreme court of the United States.

The hearing of the preliminary injunction comes up today. The defendants will probably have their defense fully prepared today.

The case, however, has been rushed along to the supreme court for the consideration of the preliminary injunction. It is expected that the preliminary injunction will be granted.

MANY ARRIVALS DAILY AT CERES

Many persons are coming here to spend the winter and to visit friends. Among the recent arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Farnsworth of Illinois, who have come to visit their son, Station Agent Farnsworth, and his family. Mr. Farnsworth enjoyed his trip very much. It was his third journey to California.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Smith have come here from Charles City, Iowa, and will settle down here. Mr. Smith's brother, F. E. Smith of Waterloo, Iowa, has also come here. Mr. Smith is a relative of T. J. Smith of Saginaw Park.

Mrs. Jasper Ellis and daughter, Alice, of Mountain View, Mo., have arrived to spend the winter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Griffin. Mrs.
Ellis and her daughter are well and enjoyed their trip very much.

DIVORCE MILL BUSY; THREE GIVEN DECREES

Ockenden-Buxbee Tray Co.
Files Its Articles of Incorporation.

The divorce mill was busy yesterday, three decrees being granted in the two departments of the superior court.

Ann Kinnala was given an interlocutory decree of divorce from Magdalen Sunila on the grounds of failure to provide and cruelty. An amended complaint was demurred to but the decree was granted. Jeannette Whitlock was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from John White-lock on the grounds of desertion.

Articles of incorporation of the Ockenden-Buxbee Tray Company were filed yesterday in the office of the county clerk. The company is capitalized for $20,000. Its principal places of business will be in Fresno. The directors are Thomas J. Ockenden and Herman Peterson, W. S. Sutherland and
J. O. Buxbee of Fresno.

Judgment for the plaintiff was rendered yesterday by Judge Austin in the case of R. Kamikawa vs. the La Encina Vineyard, in a suit brought to collect two promissory notes for $325 each.

The suit of L. H. Rogers vs. California Farmers' Union, Inc., has been dismissed by the plaintiff. Rogers brought suit to collect $250 alleged to be due from goods delivered to the union.

Special letters of administration were granted yesterday to E. A. Henderson, in the estate of William Johnson, the Coalings saloon man, who died recently in New Mexico.

N. H. Karlan, the Armenian, who is charged with criminal assault on a minor girl who was living at his home some time ago, will be arraigned before Judge Austin on November 2, to plead.

WATER TRANSPORTATION FOR FRESNO IS URGED BY EXPERT ON TRAFFIC

W. R. Wheeler, With Visiting San Francisco Merchants, Proposes Making San Joaquin Navigable and Building Canal to Better Rates --Excursionists Entertain Chamber of Commerce at Banquet.

Urging strongly on the people of Fresno the advisability of taking up a movement to make the San Joaquin river navigable to within a short distance of this city, and to build a canal in order to secure water competition with railroad rates, and practically pledging the support of the public bodies of San Francisco and of the San Francisco representatives in Congress to such a project, W. R. Wheeler of San Francisco, furnished the feature address at the banquet last night tendered the Fresno Chamber of Commerce directors by the visiting members of the Merchants' Association of San Francisco.

The banquet, held at the Hughes hotel, was the one public event of the visit of the San Francisco delegation. The party, one hundred strong, was returning from its trip through the entire valley in the way south some days ago, and yesterday completed their visit here after stopping at the towns between here and Visalia on the return leg of their journey. The party arrived in Fresno in the early afternoon in a special train. The afternoon here was devoted to visits to the business people of the community by the San Francisco delegation, comprising many of the most prominent manufacturers, publishers and wholesalers of the Bay town.

At a cocktail, the Chamber of Commerce executive committee, together with a number of prominent Fresno people, were entertained at the Hughes hotel, where Wheeler made his suggestion of a waterway to this city. The suggestion was met with enthusiastic commendation. Wheeler, who is manager of the traffic bureau of the San Francisco Merchants' Exchange, was along on this trip especially to study traffic problems of the valley.

BIG ADVERTISING STUNT. President M. H. Robbins, Jr., of the Merchants' Association, gave notice of a big advertising campaign soon to be inaugurated by the San Francisco people, of interest to and in the interests of the whole state. He pointed out that the San Joaquin valley in particular with profit by such a campaign, in the bringing of investors to this country. The importance to San Francisco of developing the country adjacent to it, and dependent upon it, in a commercial sense, he alluded to in this connection. The advertising stunt is not wholly untried as yet, and the details are to be made public at a later date.

At the banquet, at which over a hundred places were laid, an informal reception in the Hughes Hotel was held for all the business men of Fresno. After this, the members of the excursion from the Bay convened in their train to talk over points of their trip. The train pulled out at 1:30 this morning. The party will arrive in San Francisco early today.

L. M. King, secretary of the association, expressed himself last night as much impressed with what he has seen of this valley. "The ground is just scratched," he declared. "I find Fresno a place that looks good from a business standpoint, and take it that things are on a rise here. This is a great empire, and it is destined to be a great future."

The banquet last evening was a most successful affair, at which George L. Warlow, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, responded on behalf of the guests, in the absence of President A. L. Hobbs, after President Robbins of the visitors had made a short talk expressing his appreciation of what he had seen in the valley.

ROBBINS' SPEECH. Robbins spoke as follows: "As we stop in Fresno on our way home, we feel that we have indeed visited the land flowing with milk and honey. Every man of our party is filled with deep pride in the great growth and progress of the unexcelled San Joaquin valley.

"From the early days of California, San Francisco has been identified with, and financially interested in the great work of its development. Spotting in a measure, but as time has proven, only a small measure, the possibilities of the San Joaquin valley, our San Francisco men furnished the money to buy the land in the early days. But that in itself was inadequate, so the San Francisco merchants built the San Joaquin valley railroad to make it possible to bring the future products to your natural market, and in return to carry reciprocal shipments of commodities consumed by you.

"We also furnished the financial ammunition to water your vast fields, so now you are able to raise every conceivable crop in four hundred thousand acres of irrigated land in Fresno county alone, and a like proportion in Tulare and Kern counties.

"One step in development leads to another, and so we put money with you to construct your great packing houses and canneries. Your energy and progress have been a marvel to us all. The next step is to foster and extend our commercial interests for mutual benefit and profit.

"We are glad that new home seekers and home makers are coming to us from the East, from Los Angeles and from the North. We glory in every advance that you make as it adds more and more to the great material prosperity of the state of California.

"We, who have spent the last five days visiting the business houses scattered in the energetic towns and cities of the lower valley, have had our eyes opened wide. We are indeed gratified to find our idea confirmed that when we put a foot in Redwood or Hanford, in Visalia or Porterville, or in any other of the seventeen where we were so warmly welcomed, we were at home. Indeed, we have the same feeling that you experience when you are in the bay city of San Francisco.

"We have heard vividly and publicly, many expressions of good will and fellowship. We have received your assurances that you are with San Francisco in heart and wish you to realize that San Francisco is with the great interior of the state.

"San Francisco is leading your fight for the exploitation of the state's opportunities by preparing for a great exposition of the extent of the exhibit Fresno county will make five years from today. Compare in your mind's eye, the exhibit she is able to make now, with what could have been done five years ago, and you can arrive at some idea of the attractions there will be to show from your counties in 1915.

"Every merchant of our party is not only enthusiastic over the showing that has been made, but I have heard many say that they are coming back by themselves in a very short time to stay longer.

"I assure you that San Francisco is alive to the natural interests that link it with Fresno. Now that we have the most modern and well built city where rail and water meet, we offer you our facilities and our trade."

WHEELER'S SPEECH. Wheeler's speech, advocating waterway facilities for Fresno, was as follows:

"I am pleased to learn that the business men of Fresno have organized a traffic bureau. It is in line with progress and characteristics of the metropolitan aspect of the city. The Traffic Bureau of San Francisco extends its greetings, its best wishes, and offers to you its facilities at all times.

"The question of freight rates is one of deepest concern to every citizen. It is indissolubly interwoven with our prosperity. It is today probably the foremost question in the United States. It is a mistake to believe that the merchant is not interested as long as he is given a chance to trade. Every enlightened merchant is interested. When rates are exorbitant, the country is held down. Such rates usually come out of the producer and the consumer. It is to the interest of the merchant that reasonable rates apply so that the purchasing power of the producer and the consumer may be increased. It is better to bring about this increase in purchasing power, than increased dividends to eastern and foreign stock and to bring about moneys cuttings. We in California want to cut our own moneys.

"Although laws are being made more and more effective, and commissions are becoming more active in carrying out their duties, nevertheless, every student of the situation knows that water competition is more effective in bringing about reasonable rates and reductions in rates than all the laws man ever passed or will pass, or all the decrees commissions ever issued or will issue.

"Report to commission is a long, tedious and expensive process. Let effective water competition be applied and rates are brought down. With a rail and being that is startling.

"Fresno is ideally located in the heart of the San Joaquin valley to become the metropolis of that valley. All you need is water competition to make you the great distributing center of this valley.

"Today the center of the nation is turning toward development of waterways. Witness the improvements of the Ohio, the proposed Lakes to Gulf waterway, backed by Chicago merchants, connecting Chicago with the Gulf of Mexico, the action of St. Louis in establishing boat service on the Mississippi, the action of the merchants of Kansas City in placing boats on the Missouri river, and the like activity of the merchants of Portland, Ore., on the Columbia and Snake rivers, not to mention what our Los Angeles friends are doing to develop a harbor where none before existed.

"It is time to you men of Fresno to see that the San Joaquin river is made navigable the year around, to the most practicable point to your city. This can be brought about by the cooperation of the congressmen representing the San Joaquin valley. And I can guarantee you the best cooperation of the congressmen representing San Francisco, with a view to securing the necessary Federal appropriation during the coming session of Congress.

$1.50 TON FOR FREIGHT. "You people of Fresno and the entire San Joaquin valley should augment this by building a canal through your alluvial plains from this head of navigation, be it Firebaugh or a point nearer, that will enable steamboats to come to your very doors. Some tell me that it can be done within ten miles. Make Fresno the seaport of the San Joaquin valley.

"This is necessary if you are to reap the full benefits arising from the completion of the Panama canal four years hence. Otherwise rail rates on your products, dried fruits, valinas, canned fruits or even fresh fruits, will be maintained at a level which will offset the low rates offered by vessels sailing through the canal.

"While your rates today on dried fruits and raisins in carload lots is $2.72 per ton and on canned goods $3.50 per ton, with the San Joaquin river made navigable and a connecting canal constructed, your rates would be nearer $1.50 a ton.

"This will make Fresno a port and a shipping center, not alone of her own products, but of the entire San Joaquin valley south of her. Men of Fresno, it is up to you to take the initiative in this movement, and I believe I am safe in saying that you will have the hearty cooperation not only of the Merchants' Association, but of every commercial body of that city."

George H. Eberhard of San Francisco made a short talk in which he outlined some of the benefits derived from the present trip. He pointed out, particularly, that the San Franciscans, after doing business for years with this region, have been furnished now with an opportunity of forming personal friendships with their customers, and have also been made in realizing the marvelous rapidity of the growth of valley towns. He stated that the essential thing to do is to get back to the business men of the San Joaquin valley in the light of the knowledge recently gained.

WATCHING KING. Secretary King was presented with a watch by his fellow excursionists, in token of their appreciation of his work in this connection. The presentation was made by James Henry MacLaferty, known as author of that jingle on San Francisco which has gone around the world:

"The Pride of the West
The Gem of the Sea,
The City that is
The City that is Where the ship 'Content' her sail has

furled,
The city loved around the world,
San Francisco!"

The presentation was made after the reading of an impromptu jingle by MacLaferty, as follows:

"WATCHING KING."
"We've hiked through the valley for five sunny days,
We've lived for five days on the fat of the land,
The sun through our clothing has filtered its rays,
While every third minute was thrust in each hand.

A bulletin telling us what to do next,
Each one like a sermon, but minus a text.

"We've eaten and slept and we've walked and we've talked,
We've boasted the best little city on earth.
Each man did his duty—not one of them balked—
And argued the fair sex for all he was worth.

And how were we able to do such a thing?
Why, all was made easy because of a King.

"He printed our badges he smoothed all the way,
Not one little detail was slighted or shirked;
He may have slept nights, but not once in the day,
For every man's ease he unceasingly strove.

But to watch us from now his chances are slim,
So just to play even, we're going to watch him."

VISITORS ENTHUSIASTIC.
The tone of the feeling exhibited by the visitors was decidedly enthusiastic. Three visiting clergies were given for King following the presentation of the watch, a handsome affair of gold, unengraved, to allow the secretary to choose his own design in this particular. Three cheers were also given for President Robbins, with a rousing enthusiasm, and shouts of "Who's all right?" following.

As further evidence that the San Francisco business men have not forgotten college days, they indulged in a real college yell, that went as follows:

"San Francisco, rah, rah, rah;
San Francisco, rah, rah, rah;
1915, we'll be there,
To see California's great world fair!

Fresno!"

The excursionists report nice receptions tendered them everywhere in the valley. They confined their trip to the valley towns south of this city, visiting seventeen towns in all. On the way in here from Visalia they arrived at Redwood at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, being met by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, headed by W. R. Hendle, president, and E. W. Crosby, secretary. A ten minute reception was held at the train. A short time was given for calls among Redwood business men, the train pulled out at 12:15 for a fifteen minute run to Sanger, where another good sized crowd met the visitors, and short calls were paid before the completion of the trip into Fresno.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON TO SPEAK IN SELMA

Rousing Meeting to Be Held in That City Tomorrow Morning at 10.

Hiram W. Johnson's return to Fresno county tomorrow morning will be dignified with an enthusiastic Republican rally at Selma at 10 o'clock. The Republicans of Selma have been arranging for this meeting for some time, and it is confidently expected that the largest audience that ever gathered together in Selma or in Fresno county outside of the city of Fresno, will be present tomorrow morning to hear the Republican nominee for governor.

Johnson will stop in Selma en route to the southern part of the San Joaquin valley, where he will spend several days campaigning. When Johnson was in Fresno in September, he made an attempt to campaign in the lower part of the valley but went instead to Los Angeles from here.

A large number of local Republicans are planning to go to Selma tomorrow to hear Johnson speak.

TOM COYLE BACK FROM MINING TRIP

Thomas Coyle, sergeant of police of Fresno, returned home last night after an absence of six weeks. Coyle will return to duty tonight, relieving Charley Farnam who has acted as sergeant for the past month. Coyle, with Frank McLaren, an ex-police man, has been engaged in a mining expedition in Arizona. The project was financed by several Fresno men, including Chief Shaw, Patrolman Goehring and Cronkrite and R. Kaehler.

The search for gold failed to "pan out" anything and the mine was abandoned. Coyle returned to Fresno with an inch growth of whiskers and tanned as brown as a berry.

WHY?

We have grown to be the largest store in our line. Why? Because the people found our goods and prices right. We can afford to sell goods for less money. Why? Because we have the best location in town and the transient customers that are attracted by our show windows and prices more than help to pay our expenses— Because it costs us less to sell $100.00 worth of goods than any one in town— Because we watch our business and the market so closely that we buy large quantities at low figures. We visit the markets of this country, we go to look for good things and find them.

A Few of the Good Things That We Have:

Morris Chairs from $5 up to $75.00
Rattan Rockers, large size, well made, $3.00
Sanitary Couch and Pad, both good, $7.00.
Draperies for your windows as low as 15c yard.
Carpets, sewed, lined and laid as low as 45c yard.
A fine rug, one that will wear, $1.00
A very good 9x12 Axminster Rug, $17.50.

"BITTEL'S SELLS IT FOR LESS"

Every Day Some New Customers

Not a day passes by but what some new customer makes our acquaintance. This is the busiest season that we have ever enjoyed, and we base our success on the fact that we have secured such a superior line of merchandise for this Fall that our customers find that they can save quite substantially by coming here.

When you consider the size of our store and the size of Fresno, our showing is really wonderful and will compare favorably with the showing that is made by stores in cities five times as large as Fresno. Get acquainted with the new styles that are now here and be better dressed than you ever were before.

Fall Suits and Overcoats The Main Attraction

While our hats and furnishing goods are selling for a good deal of comment, still our suits and overcoats are the main attraction here. Hundreds of new styles and hundreds of new materials are on display here. It is our belief that our fall showing is unsurpassed in Central California. We certainly are showing a greater assortment than we have ever shown before. Come here for all that is new and in demand.

IRISH LEADER SPEAKS
SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—T. P. O'CONNOR, the Irish leader, who is touring Alaska, addressed a large audience here today on "Home Rule." During the day he addressed the students at the University of Washington and was entertained at luncheon by the Seattle Free club.

AN AMERICAN GIRL BEING HELD SLAVE BY THE HIGHBINDERS IN THE CITY OF SHANGHAI

It is not often that a man possesses the true spirit of adventure, but Mr. Samuel Garretson Cornell, the writer of the following true and amazing story, has for years held a quiet, peaceful public office in New York city attached to the Board of Magistrates.

A scion of an aristocratic family, the stepson of a diplomat, a college postgraduate student in Germany and a graduate of an Italian nobleman, he had an excellent beginning as a cosmopolitan. Though still a young man he has been round and round the world and into every known quarter of it, speaks all the principal languages and numerous dialects and uses many of them so well that his nationality is often a matter of doubt among the outland people.

He is a giant physically is a crack shot, horseman and swordman, and since he is full of the love of adventure it is easy to see that he would find his share of it. The following narrative is of an experience in a place where few decent white men ever have gone and come out alive.

Ever since the establishment of the foreign concessions at Shanghai, when the various Powers were given tracts along the Bund and each little tract became a colony of the nation to which it belonged, there has been talk of the underground life of the city.

vond rumor he knows nothing about Shanghai having any underground inhabitants. The statement that there is such a thing may be laughed at even among the ignorant.

I am in a position to state positively that there is an underground, for I have been there and escaped with my life after a most peculiar set of circumstances. How extensive it is I cannot say, but I emerged half a mile from where I went below the surface of the ground and I saw fully the examination you will be taken through tortuous streets and passageways into a dark hall and will walk for perhaps five minutes, making turns and twists in absolute darkness, coming at last to a room where you interview a personage who is said to be Wai Yung. The room is stuffy but cool. It must be underground. The light is furnished by lamp.

"What do you want?" says Wai Yung.

"I want a man killed."

"Is he a white man?"

The visitor answers yes or no as the case may be, and if he says yes the price for the killing is set at $100, says in the case of an Englishman. It costs $200 to get an Englishman killed because of the efforts the English government will make to get his murderers punished. A Japanese will cost $500, because of the risk of retaliation, the Japanese being the only people able to cope in any degree at all with the subtle methods of the highbinders.

DELIVER THE GOODS.

When the price is paid the goods are delivered within twenty-four hours, unless the victim of the plot leaves Shanghai by sea or barricades himself in his house.

Not long ago Judge Wilfry, a courageous American official, cleaned up all of Shanghai that fell within his jurisdiction and quite a bit that did not, but there were limits to his powers. The great secret things he could not touch, and when I was in Shanghai not long ago I found them to be the same as they always have been. Shanghai is still the clearing house for the rascals and cutthroats of the Orient.

One night I had just had my dinner at the Astor house and was wondering what I should do for the evening, when the manager made me acquainted with an intimate friend of his named Philip. After a bit we planned a drive on the Bubbling Well road to the Alhambra which was at that time a gay drinking resort below stairs with a character that was a cut between the Haymarket in New York and the Trocadero in London. The stairs were every sort of regular gambling game, with possibilities for play as high as any place in the world.

"There is not one of those wheels that is straight," said my friend, "except the one on the end. They let the tourists and outsiders play at those other wheels and the people who are in on the know play at this one. The croupier, however, is Ramon, an Indo-Chinese, born in the Philippines. He is the cleverest sleight-of-hand man in the world, I believe. We will play at his table, but keep your eyes on Ramon."

We played for a time and I detected nothing wrong, though when we cashed in it seemed to me that where-as I very nearly broke even, I should have been a hundred dollars ahead. In a rough sort of way I had an idea of the number of bets lost and the number of times I had made my number or color. We went below and met some other men we knew, but I got to thinking about the cleverness of Ramon, and decided to visit his wheel once again to see if I had been cheated.

I have always had a fondness for eighteens and nineteens and now I played them consistently losing steadily in regular bets of fifteen chips. At last eighteen came, and, doing as croupiers do the world over Ramon paid me by stacking the pay chips evenly. With the bet chips on the board. A moment before I had counted my bet stack and now I ran the nail of my index finger down it. It was thirty three chips and so of course were all the other stacks in which he was paying me my winnings.

"Come on, Ramon, come on. A stack of chips is not a yard of dannel that will shrink," I said in half a whisper to him.

The dark mousey eye caught mine and he saw I was certain. Without ado he measured up the added three chips on every stack. This seemed to affect my luck and in a little while I was a heavy winner; then I dropped the size of my bets and stood watching him in his sleight of hand work, literally accumulating hundreds of dollars in a few hours' time by the sibilance of his hands. The wheel was straight, but the croupier was as crooked as the letter Z.

When the night's play was over, I was leaving the second floor, with Phelps when I felt a touch on my arm and Ramon stood beside me an ingratiating smile on his dark face.

RAMON THE GUIDE.

"If you are not otherwise engaged would you not like to see some of the places about the city to which I can take you?" he said in Spanish.

There was violent opposition to the suggestion on the other side of me, to judge from the kick in the shins I received, but I saw an opportunity in the invitation and accepted it with alacrity. Ramon was bent on one or two things, closing my mouth by placing me under obligations to him or closing my mouth in a more permanent way. We would see.

Taking a carriage we drove down the Bubbling Well road in the after midnight moonlight and stopped at a tea house for the usual tiresome show in that sort of place and then proceeded until we came to the point

CHICAGO CUBS "COME BACK" WITH "KING" COLE IN BOX

CUBS NOSE OUT PHILADELPHIA IN TENTH INNING, AFTER ONE OF GREATEST GAMES ON RECORD

Superb Flinging of King Cole Checks Pennant Aspirations of Athletics; 19,000 Wild-Eyed Fans Cheer Themselves Hoarse; Frank Chance's Bunting Is Feature of Afternoon.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Nineteen thousand delirious enthusiasts, driven almost insane by a ninth-inning tie and a tenth-inning victory, saw the Chicago Nationals "come back" today and capture the fourth game of the world's series from the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3. The combat was one to live in history. There was not a moment when a properly interested partisan could draw a calm, full breath. It was anybody's game until the finish, when a double, an out and a single put the winning run across the plate. Up to Chicago's half of the ninth, the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors. It looked as if the latter would perform the record breaking feat of capturing four straight games in a world's series and take the pennant home with them. A number of Philadelphia visitors went so far as to make sleeping car reservations for tonight with the agent in the grandstand. As events turned out, Chicago prevented the occupation of the berths.

Frank Schulte stepped in the plate in the last half of the ninth. There was a prayerful silence when something happened. The do-or-die right fielder smote the sphere and it did not stop rolling till it bumped against the right field fence, and the batsman had become a potential base runner on the second sack. Chief Bender merely smiled, and the smile broadened to a grin when Hoffman smothered the runner to third.

CROWD IS ECSTIC.
But the crowd was fairly crazy with excitement. The roar of cheers was deafening. When Captain Chance came to bat. The first ball pitched tipped him on the finger, but the umpire said he swung into it and it served him right, or words to that effect. The "foolish leader" hopped about, snapping the finger member for a moment, and then resumed his position glaring in the direction of the still grinning Bender. He stepped into another one, but the result was different. With every muscle in his angry system tense, he caught the ball on the seam and slammed it to the farthest corner of the lot for three bases. The gloom which had hung like a pall since Monday floated away and in the sky of the families appeared rainbows of hope and promise unbounded.

PHILADELPHIA CONFIDENT.
The devoted band of Philadelphia followers remained passive and content. The habit of being on the winning side had not deserted them. They acquiesced in the Indian hurler when Zimmerman and Steinfield were out, leaving Chance, with what would have been the winning run, stranded on third.

The game might have ended in this stanza, but for the sensational catch by Bender. Steinfield poked a foul into a left field box and, although the occupants thereof were far from helpful, the fast holding third baseman of the Philadelphia team leaned over among the seats and snatched the ball. But that is only one of the many "ifs" in which the game abounded. The Philadelphia players came to bat in their half of the tenth with unabated confidence. Archer smothered a foul, however, and Bender, the first man up, was disposed of. Captain Tinker rose to the occasion with a clean double to right and the local crowd felt something in its throat.

"Home Run" Murphy was up, but his best was a sharp grounder. Tinker fumbled it for one breathless moment and then threw. Murphy out at third. Barry scored the tying run by striking out. There were two out when the winning run came in. Tinker popped out, but Archer intercepted a double, which was followed by Brown's out at first. Every local hope hung on Steinfield's last effort. He lost with weak hands. It did not have to hang for long. The Chicago left fielder hit into the first ball pitched for a single over second. Archer trotted across the plate and the agony was over.

Chance answered the call of the West Side constituency by sending "King" Cole into the pitching box. Archer was named to catch because King's batting average of .457, for the series, it was thought, could not be lowered by Archer or anybody else.

CHICAGO SCORES IN THE FIRST.
Chicago scored in the first when Sheppard walked, stole the only base of the day and was hit by Hoffman. In the fourth, Schulte singled and went to third when Hoffman hit too hot for Davis, scoring on a single by Chance. Further scoring was checked by a double play.

Philadelphia tied the score in the third when Bender walked and came home on Strunk's triple to deep center. In the fourth it looked as if the Americans were going to repeat former bat feats. Doubles by Baker and Murphy and a single by Collins netted two runs. Cole, however, checked and was credited with three strikeouts.

In the fifth the visitors had two men on bases, but Lord and Collins each sent high ones to Sheppard and the opportunity vanished. Baker walked and was sacrificed to second. Murphy's single was too hot for Steinfield and Baker perched on third. Barry hit sharply to Steinfield, who threw to Archer, and Baker was out by a clean margin at the plate.

BAKER CAUGHT AT PLATE.
In the eighth Baker was again caught at the plate—a forced out. Baker beat out a grounder and Davis walked. Murphy advanced and Baker filled the bases when he was hit by a pitched ball. There were none out when Thomas hit to Cole, who tipped Baker at the plate, Thomas being doubled at first.

The official forecast tonight promises "fair and warmer tomorrow," which should produce ideal baseball weather. Combs and Brown are likely to be the opposing pitchers.

AMERICAN HOME RAPIDLY BECOMING INSTITUTION OF THE PAST

Not More Than 10 Per Cent of Urban Population Own Houses

Investigators Still at Loss to Discover Cause of Condition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. The American home—that is the home occupied by the individual owner—is rapidly becoming an institution of the past, and unless some movement looking to its conservation is started, in about a quarter of a century, according to the opinion of experts, not more than ten per cent of the country's population, exclusive of rural districts, will live in their own homes. And that state, once reached, the practical extinction of the American home will be in its very distant future.

While this condition is one of the most startling and certainly one of the most important facts from an economic standpoint revealed by the recent census, investigators are still at a loss to discover the cause, to diagnose the case as it were. They are, however, face to face with the fact that the condition exists, most apparently, of course, in the most crowded centers of population, but to a lesser extent in every part of the country.

In New York today, for example, only about 15,000 families, representing only a little more than two per cent of the city's population, own their own homes. Half a century ago the figure was nearly 50 per cent. In the smaller cities and towns the same condition of affairs is arriving just as surely, even if not so rapidly. What, then, is the cause of the disappearance of this once national institution?

Various analysts give various solutions. One of the causes most commonly cited is the decreasing size of the American family, which is now less than four as compared to more than six fifty years ago. But whether the decreasing American family is the result of the change of the vanishing American home or just about as different a result as the famous question as to which came first, the hen or the egg. While the two may seem to be interrelated, it is now generally admitted that they are the common result of some underlying cause.

The increasing difficulty of obtaining servants is cited by some as the reason why hundreds of thousands of persons the country over are giving up the individual home idea and taking up life in apartment houses of hotels. The fact that each of these is now rapidly attracting, even in the smallest cities, families which a decade ago had never dreamed of a communal life, would in view of the undoubted scarcity of servants seem to bear out this view to a certain extent.

Again it is held that the increased cost of living is responsible for the changing condition, since it is now impossible for the individual purchasing food and lodging in small amounts at retail, so to speak, to get as much for his money as he can as the patron of an establishment where the patronage of a hotel, whose proprietor has the necessities wholesale and can sell them in consequence at a price which the individual cannot approach.

Still other critics hold that business and social luxuries are the causes of the modern condition, arguing that many Americans find it too much trouble to maintain an individual home where better accommodations, food and service can be obtained in modern hotels without any of the worries of house-keeping.

But, however, while all these reasons may contribute to the fact that we are becoming a nation of hotel and apartment dwellers, the cause which has led to this new mode of life would seem to be pretty nearly that which has brought about the giant corporation. After all, after all a matter of numbers and the combinations in this field are the logical result of combinations in all other fields which contribute to the maintenance of life. And as the men or interests who offer to the public lodging, food and service in large quantities, as in the case of hotels today, are probably as important factors in the disappearance of the individual home as are the giant manufacturing combinations. In the disappearance of the individual producer, and both for the same economic reason.

For, after all, the question of where one shall live has become a purely matter of fact and cost. The consumer in this field as in all others is demanding the biggest return for his money. And since he can secure this by patronizing the biggest homes, as it were, he is giving up the individual home.

Last year it is estimated, six million meals were eaten in New York, and of these approximately one-fifth were eaten in hotels. And the one reason for this, according to economists, is found in the fact that John Smith has discovered that a hotel, compared to an individual home, is a more economical place at the price, and running the risk of having it ruined by an incompetent cook at home, having to cook it and the like, as he has discovered, more expensive, than ordering the same steak at a place where they are bought by the thousand and prepared without risk or loss.

Likewise when it comes to furnishing a home summer condition arises. The individual must purchase retail; the hotel or communal home purchases wholesale. As a result, department stores, hoteliers, the hotel buying done by hotels for the benefit of the individual patronizing them is greater than that done by the individuals who own their own homes. Specific illustrations in this, the largest hotel city in the country, are plentiful enough to satisfy the most careful investigator.

At the Hotel Bowler, for example, Broadway's newest, though not largest hotel, since size has been back, second to quality, nearly $500,000 has been spent in purchasing the furnishings attendant to the beginning of communal housekeeping. Yet it is the opinion of expert buyers that this sum is on divided among one thousand newly married couples giving $500 for the furnishing of an individual home, not one of them could have secured anywhere near the proportional value buying retail which it has been possible for the hotel buying wholesale.

But, of course, the communal housekeeping orders must be large to secure this advantage for the individual dweller, but how enormous those orders have become, as compared to the old-fashioned individual housekeeper's wants, is indicated by the detailed figures of the building which are going into the Hotel. The "shopping list" contains items calculated to stagger the old-fashioned housekeeper and more than sufficient to satisfy the most confirmed shopping fiend. To begin with this building with its 2,000,000 bricks and its 30 miles of electric wiring and its 5,000 electric lights would furnish building material for nearly fifty good-sized homes. Yet it will be able to care for and feed a number of people equal to nearly a thousand average families daily, thus bringing forth in a most striking manner the economic reason which is causing individual homes to disappear. The "furnishing housekeeper" to complete his work—all the ordering has been done by one firm—has found it necessary to buy the following incidentals, which form a striking illustration of the concentration of purchasing under the new regime. Approximately 4,500 rolls of wall paper will be used, which represent a total length of over twenty-five miles in a single width, while five miles of draperies will adorn the windows and doorways. More than 5,000 pieces of furniture, including 100,000 single width carpet are included in this list, while china and glassware reach such enormous totals as to be beyond the comprehension of the individual housekeeper. No less than 40,000 pieces of the former and nearly 50,000 pieces of the latter go to make up the list, to which must be added some 25,000 pieces of silverware. More than anything else these figures illustrate in concrete form a chief cause for the disappearance of the individual home—the saving which can be made by buying in carload lots, and by the hundred dozen in the case of the hotel, as compared to the comparatively insignificant order of the individual. To take an extreme illustration, the individual who lives in his own home, so far as expense is concerned, is much in the same position as the small farmer who grows and sells his corn, while the hotel, dweller—and this is a smaller group—applies to apartment dwellers since they at least buy space and heat at wholesale, finds his counterpart in the person who purchases his flour from the largest manufacturer in the country. Likewise he finds the same argument applies, since a hotel cook can look after the wants of twenty just as cheaply and much more satisfactorily than the home cook can for those of two. Likewise a ton of coal will produce far better results, proportionately, in the communal home than in the individual one.

That we are becoming a nation of hotel and apartment dwellers so far as our cities are concerned, there is no denying. But while various savants are seeking for various psychological explanations and likening our condition to that of the Roman empire, we can go on to the purely economic, since people are simply spending their money in this field as they do in all others, that is, in the way best calculated to secure its worth in return. The individual is discovering that he cannot compete with the larger and more efficient organization in this field any more than in what is commonly called business. Of course, love of luxury may have something to do with the question since in this respect the hotel is far ahead, but primarily economic reasons are at the bottom of the vanishing of American homes.

THE WIND IN THE LEAVES.
The wind that moved among the leaves
In some slim maiden none perceives,
Who evermore her magic weaves,
And dances.

You hear her feet, as soft as thieves;
And then the silken rustle of sleeves,
Fluttered along the forest's eaves,
Entrances.

She leans and whispers in the ear
Of every wild flower something dear—
How to protect their hearts from fear
Of dying.

Then takes the thistle's feathery sphere
And glimmers it across the mere,
Or on a cobweb, trailing clear,
Cloves flying.

The butterfly, that comes and goes,
She tosses on the wildwood rose;
And, standing shy on elfin toes,
She teases.

The raveled bee that whines, then blows
Into each bud till wide it grows;
And swift the musk that in it glows
She seizes.

Then, fairy-fair, away she trips,
Wild perfumes her wildwood lips;
To where, with twinkling fingertips,
Day's daughter,

Dusk, waits her where the silence drips;
There from her gown of light she slips,
And with the star of twilight dips
The water-cress, in the Outlook.

The First Real Cost-Test Ever Made

Automobile vs. Horse

"Maxwell" per passenger mile—1¹/₁₀ cents

Horse and Buggy, passenger mile—2¹/₂ cents

A PUBLIC test of the Maxwell Car and a horse and buggy on the streets of New York and its suburbs, under actual conditions of traffic, has just been completed.

Automobile, 1¹/₁₀¢

Expenses stop when not in use.

Based on 10-Mile Trip "City"

Gasoline	122
Oil	64
Grease	23
Tires and Car Depreciation	21
Cost per mile—two persons	308
Cost per mile—per person	154

To operate an automobile the cost is based on gasoline at 20¢ a gallon; oil, 50¢ a gallon; grease, 12¢ a pound; depreciation and tires, .023 a mile; average cost of gasoline figured 16¢ to the gallon—better results secured in recent test. Storage not included.

It Proves Beyond Dispute

That the automobile is undoubtedly an economy.
That its low cost of operation surprises even its advocates.
That the extravagance of the motor car is voluntary and unnecessary.
That its pleasures are within the reach of men of moderate means.
That it is an indispensable factor in transportation and a utility.

That it is an implement, which if properly employed, will increase the earning power of man, conserve his time, extend his field and support his hands.

That the automobile industry, practically unknown ten years ago, and now the fourth greatest industry in the United States, is fully vindicated and proven economically sound.

That the Maxwell Car is the standard of that industry; the efficient, economical, reliable, utility automobile, as near perfection as human intelligence and human handwork can make it under modern conditions.

Test Officially Sanctioned by the American Automobile Association

We invited the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association to conduct this test in order that it might be in absolutely disinterested control. The Board appointed judges to attest its results.

The two vehicles ran each day over a predetermined route. Each ran continuously for six hours, regarded as a normal day's work. Account was kept of every item of expense.

The Results Attested by Its Judges

The automobile cost ⁸/₁₀₀ of a cent per passenger mile to operate.
The horse and buggy cost 1⁴/₁₀₀ of a cent per passenger mile.
The car covered 2¹/₂ times the distance traveled by the horse.
The car averaged 76 ³/₁₀ miles at a cost of $1.03.
The horse averaged 32 ³/₁₀ miles a day at a cost of 95 cents.
The car required 5 ¹/₂ gallons of gasoline and a pint of lubricant daily.

The horse needed 12 quarts of oats and 20 pounds of hay per day.
The other expenses—tire cost, up-keep and depreciation or similar charges, brought the total cost of the car up to 1¹/₁₀ cent per passenger mile, as shown in detail in the table above.
The other incident expenses of maintaining a horse and buggy brought its total cost up to 2¹/₂ cents per passenger mile, as shown in the table above.

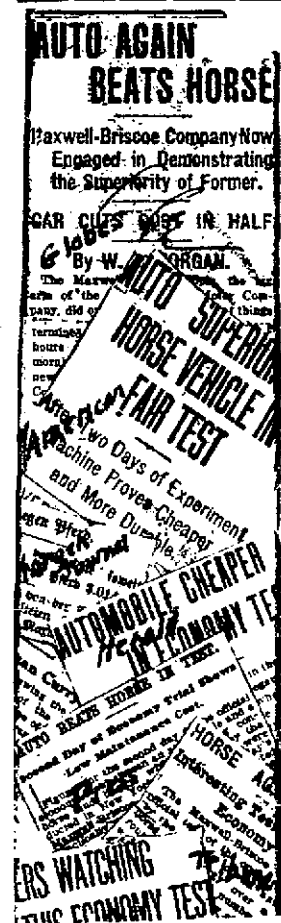

This is our answer to the charge made that the automobile is an extravagance. This proves that it is an economic factor that would save millions if the Maxwell were everywhere substituted for the horse and buggy. We have always been unable to fill orders promptly in the spring and summer. In order to stimulate early season business all these cars sold during the next 30 days will be

THE GIRL'S LAMENTATION.

With grief and mourning I sit to spin;
My love passed by, and he didn't come
My passion, my love, both day and night,
And carries off my poor heart's delight.

There is a garden in yonder town,
My love goes there and he spends a crown.
He takes a strange girl upon his knee,
And never more gives a thought to me.

In our garden the rose unfolds,
With bachelor's buttons, and mar-
golds;
I'll be no power for dance or feat,
A willow twig is for me to wear.

As with him I'd go if I had my will,
I'd follow him barefoot o'er rock and hill;
I'd never once speak of all my grief
If he'd give me a smile for my heart's relief.

Now winter or summer to me it's one that oh, for a day like the time that's gone.

I'd little care was it storm or shine,
If I had but peace in this heart of mine.

HENRY MILLER, VIRGINIA HARNED, VIOLA ALLEN, SOON TO COME HERE

Notable List of Players in Latest Plays Constitute Strong Attractions for Barton Theater in the Next Few Weeks.

Virginia Harned, who appears at the Barton next Thursday evening in "The Woman He Married."

It was due to Henry Miller, who will be seen at the Barton Opera House, tomorrow night in "Her Husband's Wife," that "The Servant in the House" and "The Great Divide," two of the most significant efforts in the history of the modern drama, were made commercially possible on the American stage. Both of these plays Mr. Miller financed, and in both of them he has acted in this country and in England. This season he is appearing in light comedy, returning to the suave style and technique of his earlier days.

Henry Miller was born in London in 1859, and spent his boyhood in Toronto, Canada. He made his first professional appearance when he was 18 years old at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, in a stock company performance of "Macbeth." Before the end of the season he was playing the leading juvenile roles in classic dramas with the company. In 1878 he joined Mrs. Modjeska's company, playing as did Robert Mantell at the same time in the same company, general utility roles. His next engagement was with Adelaide Neilson, and in two seasons with her company he appeared in "Measure for Measure," "Romeo and Juliet," "Othello," and "As You Like It." After a brief engagement with Ada Cavendish he made his first appearance with the Daly company in "Othello," Feb. 6, 1882. Miss Behan, James Lewis and John Drew were in the cast.

He left Mr. Daly to join A. M. Palmer's forces at the Madison Square Theater where he appeared as Herbert in "Young Mrs. Winthrop." After being leading man for Minnie Maddern for a time, and playing Eric Thorndike with Agnes Booth Shookel, in Finner's "The Squire," Mr. Miller became leading juvenile of the original Lyceum Theater Company of

New York. There he appeared as Robert Gray in "The Wife," Clement Hale in "Sweet Lavender" and Randolph in "The Marquis." His appearance as Kerschival West in Bronson Howard's "Shenandoah" was followed by his engagement as leading man of the Empire Theater Stock Company, and there he made his mark as Mr. Brabazon in "Sowing the Wind," Mr. Owen in "Liberty Bell," J. Follet in "Treasure in Guadalupe," Randolph in "Bohemian" and David Ronon in "The Masqueraders."

He first appeared as a star in 1896 in the original production of "Heartsease" by Charles Klein, and J. I. C. Clark. In 1898 he again starred in "The Master" by Stuart Ogilvie. In 1899 he created the leading role in "The Only Way," a dramatization of Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities," by Freeman Wills. The joint starring tours of Mr. Miller and Miss Margaret Anglin brought them before the public in several interesting plays, and in 1906 came their notable success in "The Great Divide." Mr. Miller has discovered several new famous playwrights, notably William Vaughn Moody and Charles Rann Kennedy.

Following the performance of "Her Husband's Wife," Mr. Miller will offer his famous one-act play "Frederic LeMaitre," which he revived last week in San Francisco, and which has never been seen here. As this delightful little sketch adds nearly twenty minutes to the evening's entertainment, it will be necessary for the curtain at the Barton to rise sharply at 8:15, instead of 8:30, as was the custom during the New York and Chicago runs of "Her Husband's Wife." The role of LeMaitre is one of Henry Miller's most celebrated characterizations and presents a striking contrast to his new comedy success, furnishing an exceedingly interesting demonstration of the actor-manager's great versatility. The extreme brevity of the little classic should be borne in mind by those who wish to see both "Frederic LeMaitre" and "Her Husband's Wife." To do so it will be absolutely necessary to reach the theater not later than a quarter past 8.

The Woman He Married

Herbert Bashford has written an original and intensely interesting play for Virginia Harned in "The Woman He Married," which Miss Harned will offer at the Barton next Thursday evening, October 27th.

The story concerns Jack Harding, son of a rich New York merchant and a young man who has led a fast life. He becomes serious and falls in love with Jeanne Dumont, of the music hall, and marries her during the absence of his father in Paris. Colonel Harding on returning home is enraged to find his son married to a woman he considers a disgrace to the family and cuts the boy off without a penny. Jack's play has finished, a play dealing with the industrial problem, and its effects on working girls. His wife gave him the idea and is intensely interested in its progress, but the young husband feels he must give up writing and completing it to earn their bread and butter.

About this time Jeanne receives a letter from Jules Marston, a noted figure painter, for whom she had previously posed, asking her to again become his model and offering tempting financial inducements. Unknown to her husband she visits the studio and poses for a painting entitled "The Blessed Damozel." Her husband obtains the information that she is getting money from a wealthy widow, Mr. Hatherbridge. The Hon. Cecil Anley, an English adventurer and former champion of young Harding, fails to win the widow because Jeanne tells her something of his past, and he seeks revenge. His opportunity comes when he finds Jeanne's bracelet in Marston's studio. Jack's play is completed and on the night of its first presentation and his triumph his wife's deception is revealed to her. He manages to wring a confession from her, which forms a part of some culminating act in the drama.

Musical Melange

A musical melange in three acts called "Morning, Noon and Night," under the personal direction of Mortimer M. Thorne, is the attraction at the Barton next Friday evening. This was said to be one of the musical comedy treats of the past season and although it has never been seen in this territory before, its reputation has preceded it and it is assured of a warm welcome. To the theater-goers it will be necessary only to mention that it is the companion show to "Wine, Woman and Song," that is sufficient guarantee to them of its quality. Like "Wine, Woman and Song" it is a merry concoction blended together with songs and laughter, with just a thread of a story to maintain the small plot and furnish a clean, enjoyable evening's entertainment. Miss Hilda Carle heads the cast which includes Miss Ethel Hall, Charles Boyd, Sid Ibrahim, Fred DeForest, Clark (Jedfield), and Matt Taylor. Among the novelty specialties are "The Military Mairies," the largest and best trained girl act before the public today; the Military Four, Harmonists; "The Rehearsal," an unique offering showing the side of the actor's life where the lights are not brightly shining and where it is a steady grind, and "Christmas Eve at the Club," a sketch filled with beautiful sentiment and clean-cut comedy, which is recognized as the prettiest little playlet of the times. The scenic effects are in themselves a feature. The scene depicting Ellis Island is a masterpiece of the scenic artist. It shows the entrance to the harbor with Bartholdi's famous statue of liberty in the foreground and the wonderful skyscrapers of New York in the distance, with the electrical effects to carry it out one can readily believe he is looking at the original instead of a painted production. There are many more novelties in fact it is a novelty show from start to finish. A chorus of thirty take care of some of the prettiest music that has been written in years. The costuming is in keeping with the high standard maintained by the show.

"The White Sister"

"The White Sister," which comes to the Barton as one of the early Novembers, is not a play, but a play of religious nature, for the element of religion is but subsidiary to the story. Miss Allen's newest drama might well be called "a play of love and duty." The peculiarly enticing fascination of a romantic love story is undoubtedly the keynote of "The White Sister." The story is set in the religion of the play is but the religion of an Italian woman who turns to her church for comfort after she has been robbed of the man to whom she was betrothed. The keenest interest of the play is centered in the love of these things, the Nun and the Soldier, whose ways have led them far apart, both in actual distance and in beliefs.

No actress is better fitted, perhaps, to play delicate love scenes than Viola Allen, and "The White Sister" affords ample opportunity for her to exhibit her talents in an ideal setting. Miss Allen is an ideal artist, so to speak, a woman whose every motion even in the middle of a highly exciting scene, is exactly right and perfect without that unforgettable fault of making the action seem studied, the unparaphrased offense of the mediocre player. Love is the motive of the story and it is the motive as well of the sun-plot with which the complications are brought into "The White Sister," and only secondary to the love of the Nun and the Soldier in the uncommon tale of love between this same soldier and the Countess Chiaramonte.

James O'Neill, of Monte Cristo fame,

Henry Miller, who will be seen at the Barton tomorrow evening in a new comedy, "Her Husband's Wife."

is featured with Miss Allen in the play.

THE HABIT OF HAPPINESS

There is nothing better that we can do for our children than to train them from infancy to form a habit of always being happy, cheerful and hopeful, and of making this a life principle, says Dr. J. S. Sweet, M.D., in "Success Magazine." The habit of optimism, of facing life the right way, will be worth infinitely more to them than the greatest fortune they may inherit without it.

Children should be given a bright outlook upon life. There is nothing like a sunny disposition, a happy temperament and if they are not inherited they may be cultivated.

Keep yourself cheerful, joyous, happy. It was never intended that you should be a grumbling, discontent, unhappy mortal. You were made to be joyously happy, exuberant, but do not mistake intoxicating excitement, a titillation of the nerves, for happiness. Real happiness is as calm as a summer sea; it is deep, quiet, serene. It works noiselessly, silently but powerfully. We are most powerful when most perfectly poised, when most serene.

Happiness is a great stimulator of growth. Nothing grows when discontent. When we shall have learned how to conserve our energies by getting our minds into harmony, even the hardest day's work will not tire us. It is nerve exhaustion, wasted energy through un-natural, discordant conditions, that makes us fagged and tired out, the result of friction in our machinery. If we could keep ourselves in a happy condition all day, we should be fresh at night. It is by keeping ourselves in perfect harmony that we become more efficient and get the most out of life.

THE PERCENTAGE OF COLLEGE GIRLS WHO MARRY

For some years the idea has been widespread that the higher education seriously injures a girl's chances of marriage, says Robert Haven Schauf, for in "Success Magazine." Of late this has been disputed, notably by President Thomas of Bryn Mawr, who has not yet, however, published the data collected ten years ago by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Certain students of this subject declare that only a quarter of all college girls ever marry; others, one-third; while none, I believe, claim more than one-half. After looking through the published material on the subject, I concluded that the earlier type of college girl were on the whole more heavily handicapped for marriage, both by environment and natural endowment and masculine prejudice than is the type of today, which grows every year more womanly and healthy and attractive to men and is being increasingly recruited from the leisure classes as college-going becomes increasingly fashionable.

Danderine

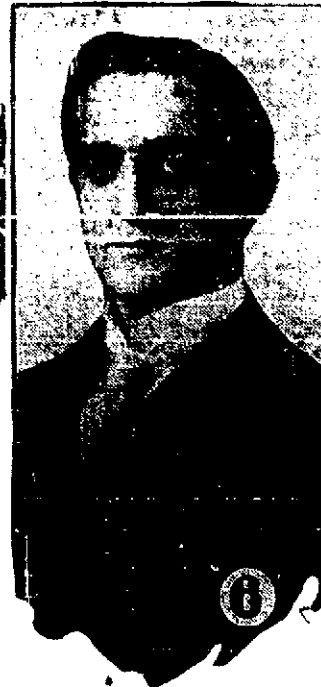

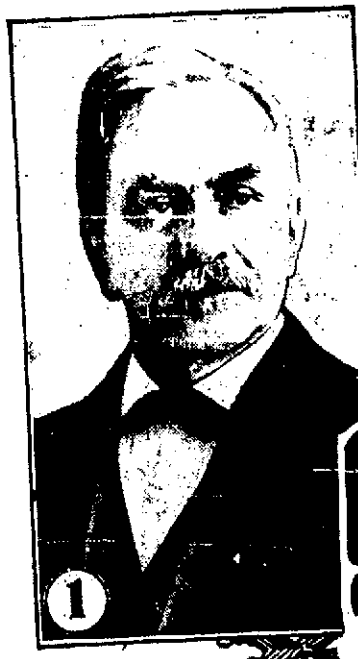

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what food is to the body. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It also imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows: "When I began using Danderine my hair was thin and falling out. I used it for a few weeks and now it is away below my hips." Another from Newark, N. J., writes: "I have been using Danderine for some time. When I first started to use it I had very little hair, but now I have the most beautiful hair I have ever had. I have the most beautiful hair I have ever had. I have the most beautiful hair I have ever had." NOW at all druggists in three sizes 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Danderine makes a greater sale than any other one preparation regardless of kind or brand, and it has a much greater sale than all of the other hair preparations in the world combined. FREE To show how quickly Danderine grows hair, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this coupon to the NEWTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and five 10¢ stamps to pay postage.

SNAPPED BY THE NEWS MAN'S CAMERA

NATION WIDE CRUSADE AGAINST WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC HAS BEGUN

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

SEVERAL thousand miles of enthusiasm and earnest, well-directed effort toward a worthy end—such is the program of the American Purify federation's crusade against the "white slave" traffic, starting from Chicago Sept. 29 and ending in the same city on the last day of October. In the course of the federation's tour at least seventeen cities will be visited, and a convention in furtherance of the aims of the federation will be held in each one. In the larger cities two day meetings will be held; in the others the program will be condensed so that only a one day stop will be made. The tour will be a "swing around the circle" in the western part of America. A similar tour will be made in the east next spring, and the results will be made the subject of formal discussion and comparison at the American Purify congress to be held in St. Louis in October, 1911.

Embraced in the list of cities to be visited during the present campaign against the "white slave" traffic are Minneapolis, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Tucson, El Paso, Houston, New Orleans, Memphis and St. Louis. In each place the arrangements for the reception of the purify workers and for assistance in their work are being made by the leading reformers. The church federations, ministerial associations, Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations, women's clubs, temperance societies, reform organizations and in some cases the chambers of commerce are exerting themselves to bring the attendance at the conventions up to the highest possible figure.

To B. S. Steadwell, president of the American Purify federation, is awarded the credit of originating the idea of a nation wide crusade against the "white slave" traffic. He believes that so widespread a movement will be far more efficacious in calling public attention to the evil which it is designed to combat than would be a large convention of the federation held in one city. It is a series of conventions that is planned, giving to each city the presence of a large body of prominent workers in this field to encourage and aid the local reformers. With that end in view Mr. Steadwell and his coadjutors have assembled some of the nation's best known reformers and purify workers. Among them are the following:

Dr. Ernest A. Bell and Arthur Burrage Farwell of Chicago; the Rev. J. G. Shearer of Toronto, Canada; Mrs. Della Thompson Lutes of Cooperstown, N. Y.; Mrs. E. M. Whittemore and the Rev. Dr. Edward Russell Perry of New York city; James H. Patton of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. A. B. Sims and John B. Hammond of Des Moines, Ia.; Professor T. W. Shannon of St. Louis; Dr. Emma F. A. Drake of Denver; Rabbi Tobias Schanfarber of Chicago; W. L. Clark of Leamington, Ont.; J. Frank Chase of Boston and Owen O. Wlard of Springboro, Pa. Bell and His Work.

A tower of strength in the fight against the "white slave" traffic, by which is meant the organized dealing in white women for immoral purposes recently made the subject of enactment by the national legislature, is found in Ernest A. Bell of Chicago, one of the leaders of the present movement. Dr. Bell has made a careful, thorough study of the subject and has embodied the results of his investigations in a recently published book. He is the chairman of the "white slave" traffic committee of the American Purify federation and for the past six years has been the superintendent of the Midnight mission of Chicago, of which he was the founder. Out of the mission have grown the Illinois Vigilance association and other missionary and reformatory societies. During the federation's tour Dr. Bell will speak upon and represent the national work against the white traffic.

Arthur B. Farwell of Chicago, another representative in the federation's work, is famous as the president of the Chicago Law and Order league and of the Illinois Vigilance association. For years he has made a study of the problem of the combating and eradication of evil in large cities. He is an interesting and able speaker. Rabbi Schanfarber, another Chicago representative, is one of the leaders of his congregation. He is an orator of power and one of the most enthusiastic of American workers for reform.

The women who will take part in the campaign have given years to the advancement of the purify cause. Mrs. Lutes is the editor of American Motherhood and has written several books of wide circulation. Mrs. Drake is also an author and has figured prominently on the lecture platform. Mrs. Whittemore is known throughout the world as the founder of the great reformatory work for girls and women known as the Door of Hope.

All of the other members of the federation's party have borne conspicuous parts in the warfare against the "white slave" trade. They have made special studies of the problems involved in the suppression of the traffic and will urge on their hearers the support of the movement against the importation and distribution by organized bodies of the unfortunate victims of the "business." State legislation to supplement the national law recently passed will be advocated and the progress of the world will be told. Most of the laborers in this field hold that the recent grand jury in New York, headed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was wrong in finding that there is no general organization of "white slave" dealers covering the entire country. They declare that the law in its report enumerated many elements that would naturally enter into just such an organized force.

New National Law Approved.

They approve of the new national "white slave traffic act" (so called officially), which provides for the infliction of drastic punishment upon any person convicted of participation in the importation or transportation between states of women for immoral purposes. "Everything possible should be done to enforce the law," say the reformers, and they profess great interest in the fight to test the constitutionality of that clause of the law which makes the steamship lines responsible for the free transportation of persons ordered deported after they have lived in this country more than the three years fixed as a limit by the old statute. A test case will be carried to the supreme court, as the enforcement of the statute as its stands will mean the loss of large sums of money to the transatlantic steamship lines. Since the passage of the law designed to curb the traffic the immigration inspectors, aided by the state and municipal authorities, have been gathering up undesirable women residents all over the country and ordering them deported. Before the passage of the law any woman who had lived in this country three years was immune from arrest and deportation.

Naturally the steamship companies resent the attempt made to provide these undesirable aliens with free transportation to the countries whence they came. The case which probably will be selected for a test is that of a Russian girl, seventeen years old, who was brought to New York from Buffalo for deportation. It has been proved that she was landed in this country on Sept. 15, 1905, from the Red Star liner Finland. An attempt was made to put her on board a Red Star steamship bound for Europe, but the officers refused to receive her. Plain intent of Congress.

William Williams, commissioner of immigration at New York, at once referred the question to the secretary of commerce and labor, and the department held that the plain intent of congress in the "white slave" act was that, though the three year limit for deportation was done away with, the steamship lines must bear the cost of deportation.

The Red Star line contends that this was not the intent of the law, that the girl came here before the passage of the amendment, that there was nothing to show that she had any evil intent when she arrived here and that the section of the law involved is unconstitutional. The claim is set up that the expenses of deportation should be borne by the immigration fund.

While this case was being prepared the friends of the girl came to her assistance, and she is now out on bail. It may be that her release will be obtained and the order of deportation rescinded.

The Chicago to New York Air Race

CONDITIONS OF THE CHICAGO-NEW YORK AIR RACE FOR $25,000.

At least three competitors must start or no race.

The start shall be made on Saturday, Oct. 8, 1910, after 10 a. m., from a practicable field within the city limits of Chicago, and the finish shall be within the city limits of New York. Competitors shall start as nearly as possible simultaneously. Intervals, however, will be allowed, if necessary or desirable, but in any case all must start on the same day. The start may be postponed from day to day because of bad weather, but not beyond Oct. 16, 1910.

The race must be completed within 125 hours, or seven days, after the start. No limit is placed on the number of stops.

Each entrant must have a record of one hour's continuous flight. Each competitor must finish in the same machine in which he starts, but any repairs, such as re-covering planes, installing new motors, etc., may be made on the way as required.

To win the prize of $25,000 the winner must cover the course in less time if their monoplane, biplane or triplane will carry them at a faster rate. In fact, each of them wants to get there as quickly as possible and to beat the other fellow to the goal. He wants the glory, of course, of winning the long cross country aeroplane race, but still more he wants the $25,000 offered as the prize. They are an exceedingly practical, hard headed set of men, the professional aviators, and they are cultivating with assiduity the rich field which will be their only until flying machines become a commonplace of everyday life. Then nobody will be offering $25,000 prizes for cross country flights, since too many of us would be able to compete in such a contest.

To the Chicago Post and the New York Times belongs the honor of proposing the air race from the second American city to the first. The fight has been planned to take place from west to east on account of the direction of the prevailing winds at this time of year. Flying against the wind for a thousand miles is a task that would be a little too much for even the best of the aeroplanists in the present state of the science and art of flying. As it is, the long flight is expected to test in the most severe manner the capabilities of the fliers. The conditions, printed elsewhere on this page, are considered liberal by the aviators, who are unanimous in declaring that long cross country races afford the best possible tryouts of man and machine.

On the entry list of the contest are the names of some of the best known fliers. Among them are Glenn H. Curtiss, the holder of the international trophy, won at Rheims last year; Charles K. Hamilton, generally considered the most daring of American aviators, who flew from New York to Philadelphia and back; Charles F. Willard, prize winner at Los Angeles and one of the youngest of the famous air men; Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, dean of American aviators, former balloonist and a man of international renown in air work; James Radley and Charles G. Harner, Englishmen, the former of whom recently broke the British record for speed in an aeroplane by flying a mile in 47.5 seconds, and Tod Shrieffer, Joseph Seymour, J. C. Mars and J. A. D. McCurdy, all men of note among aeroplanists. It will be interesting to compare the records made during the Chicago-New York race with some of the recent performances of the air men in Europe. One of the greatest of these has been the cross country race in France, of which M. Le Blanc was the winner. The race took the aeroplanists from Paris to Amiens and return by roundabout routes, the total distance covered being 418 miles, which is about half the distance between Chicago and New York. Another record making feat was M. Bleriot's flight from Paris to Bordeaux, a distance of 356 miles in an almost direct course. He started in his biplane from Paris on Sept. 1 and finished on Sept. 2, having covered 356 miles with four stops. His actual flying time was 7 hours 55 minutes 54 seconds. On the third and last day atmospheric conditions compelled M. Bleriot to rise to a height of over 3,000 feet.

Inspired probably by the offer of the New York and Chicago newspapers, the Paris Journal has offered a prize of 200,000 francs, or $40,000, for an airship race from Paris to Berlin to Brussels to London and back to Paris. This necessitates two crossings of the English channel, a feat deemed impossible until M. Bleriot showed the way to Moisant and the others who have followed him.

Another great proposed cross country race is the St. Louis-New York contest for a prize of $30,000 offered by two newspapers of those cities. The Chicago-New York race precedes the international gathering of the fliers at Belmont park, New York, planned to be the greatest meeting of its sort ever held, and the balloon flight starting from St. Louis, for the international cup. The latter event will take place Oct. 17. The Belmont park meeting's dates are Oct. 22 to 30. The greatest prize at the latter tournament of the fliers will be the international trophy won by Glenn H. Curtiss at Rheims last year, the possession of which awarded this year's international meet to America. Some of the best of American and French fliers as well as men of other nationalities will compete at St. Louis and at Belmont park.

WILLIAM HENDERSON.

Three Jeff Davises. The occasional speeches of United States Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas serve to keep a historic name before the American public. Including the present senator, there have been three Jeff Davises in American history. President Jefferson Davis of the Confederacy was the first. Less known, but nevertheless a distinguished soldier, was General Jefferson Columbus Davis, known during the civil war as the best of American and French fliers. General Davis fought on the Union side and made a gallant record. He was a major general of volunteers and attained the rank of colonel in the regular army. His operations were largely in northern Arkansas, where he gave the bushwhackers and guerrillas of Arkansas and Missouri some lively tussles. General Davis was the first United States army officer to command a post in Alaska. Recently a new army post in that territory has been named in his honor. He fought through the Mexican war and was in the civil war from the very first to the final shot.

COLUMBUS.

By JOAQUIN MILLER.

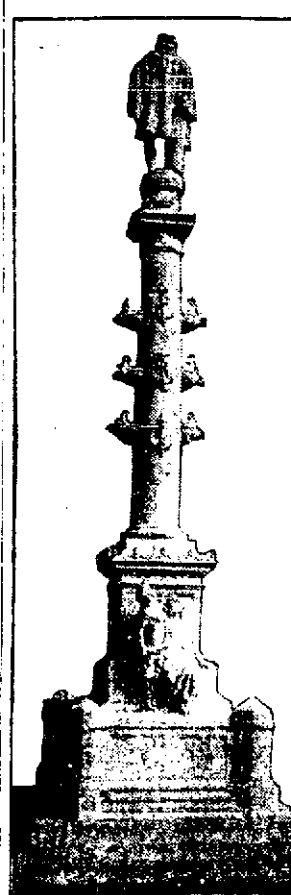

BEHIND him lay the gray Azores, Behind the gates of Hercules, Before him not the ghost of shores, Before him only shoreless seas. The good mate said: "Now must we pray, For, lo, the very stars are gone! Brave admiral, speak! What shall I say?" "Why, say, 'Sail on, sail on and on!'"

"My men grow mutinous day by day; My men grow ghastly wan and weak." The stout mate thought of home; a spray Of salt wave washed his swarthy cheek. "What shall I say, brave admiral, say, If we sight naught but seas at dawn?" "Why, you shall say at break of day, 'Sail on, sail on, sail on and on!'"

They sailed and sailed, as winds might blow, Until at last the blanched mate said: "Why, now not even God would know Should I and all my men fall dead. These very winds forget their way, For God from these dread seas is gone. Now, speak, brave admiral, speak and say—" He said, "Sail on, sail on and on!"

They sailed; they sailed. Then spake the mate: "This mad sea shows his teeth tonight. He curls his lip; he lies in wait With lifted teeth, as if to bite. Brave admiral, say but one good word— What shall we do when hope is gone?" The words leapt like a leaping sword, "Sail on, sail on, sail on and on!"

Then, pale and worn, he kept his deck And peered through darkness—ah, that night Of all dark nights! And then a speck— A light! A light! A light! A light! It grew; a starlit flag unfurled— It grew to be Time's burst of dawn. He gained a world; he gave that world Its grandest lesson: "On! Sail on!"

COLUMBUS MONUMENT, NEW YORK.

[Wednesday, Oct. 12, will be Columbus day, the four hundred and eighteenth anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Columbus day is a legal holiday in twelve states, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania have decided to honor thus the memory of the great navigator. The bill to make the day a holiday in Massachusetts was signed on April 22 last. Only a few special celebrations of the day have been planned for this year. Among them is the presentation of a bust of Columbus to Detroit by the Italian Americans of the city. There is a plan on foot for the purchase by the Knights of Columbus of the house in Genoa, Italy, in which Columbus was born and its transformation into a museum for American visitors to Italy.]

The Best Recommendation

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Dear Friend—I am glad to tell you that I have improved greatly since taking your medicine. By the time I take the rest of it I think I will need no more medicine. I am very thankful to you for your kindness and free treatment. One of my lady friends (Mrs. Richmond) got your address from me, I told her what you had done for me. Will you try and speak a good word for you whenever I can. I can tell what you did for me, so that will be enough. I remain your friend.

Wonder Working Medicine

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Dear Doctor—Your medicine seems to be working wonders with me. The pain I wrote you about all disappeared. I have lots more strength. I feel ever so much better. Really, I can't believe that I am the same person. No one knows how near I was when I wrote to you first. Yours sincerely,
ARCATA, CAL. MRS. SAM MOXON.

Gained 6 Lbs. in 2 Weeks

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Kind Sir—After 15 days' treatment I gained six pounds. I weighed 126 pounds, now I weigh 130. When I began taking your treatment it seemed to loosen me all up as I spit up all kinds of mucus; then my head loosened up, and now I don't cough but very little. My bowels are regular for the first time in my life. I am a lot better. I have followed your diet table very close. I have given your address to several of my friends and I truly thank you for your kind attention to my case. Any special directions you will give I will follow carefully. Yours truly, ARCATA, CAL. M. TACKETT.

Beyond Her Expectations

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Dear Doctor—After taking your treatment six months am improving more than I ever expected to when I began with your medicine and feel I am about cured. I continue taking this I feel I will be entirely cured, hope so at least.
Words cannot express my gratefulness to you for your kindness shown me while under your treatment. Again thanking you for your kind service, I remain, yours very respectfully,
Box 372, Goldfield, Nev. MRS. HENRY CAREY.

Eats Like a Hog

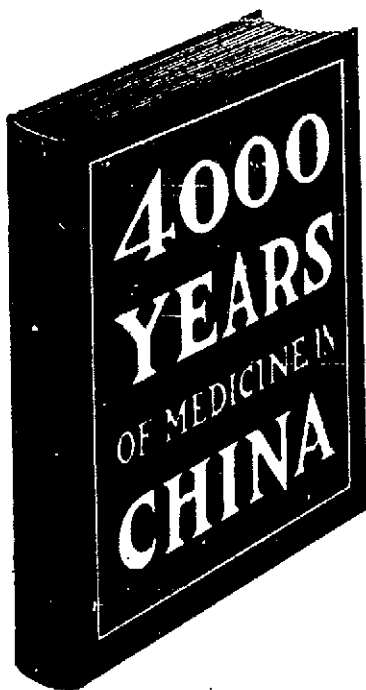

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Friend Doctor—You will have to excuse me for not writing as soon as I took your course of medicine, as I had to go to the mountains and could not get back in time I took your medicine with me and took it all. It was the finest medicine I ever took. I feel fine since I took your treatment, eat like a hog. That tired feeling left me and I feel fine. A fine every night cured me and I think I will stay that way. My stomach feels fine, I can eat anything, and it doesn't seem to affect me at all. Remain your patient,

Credit Where Credit Is Due

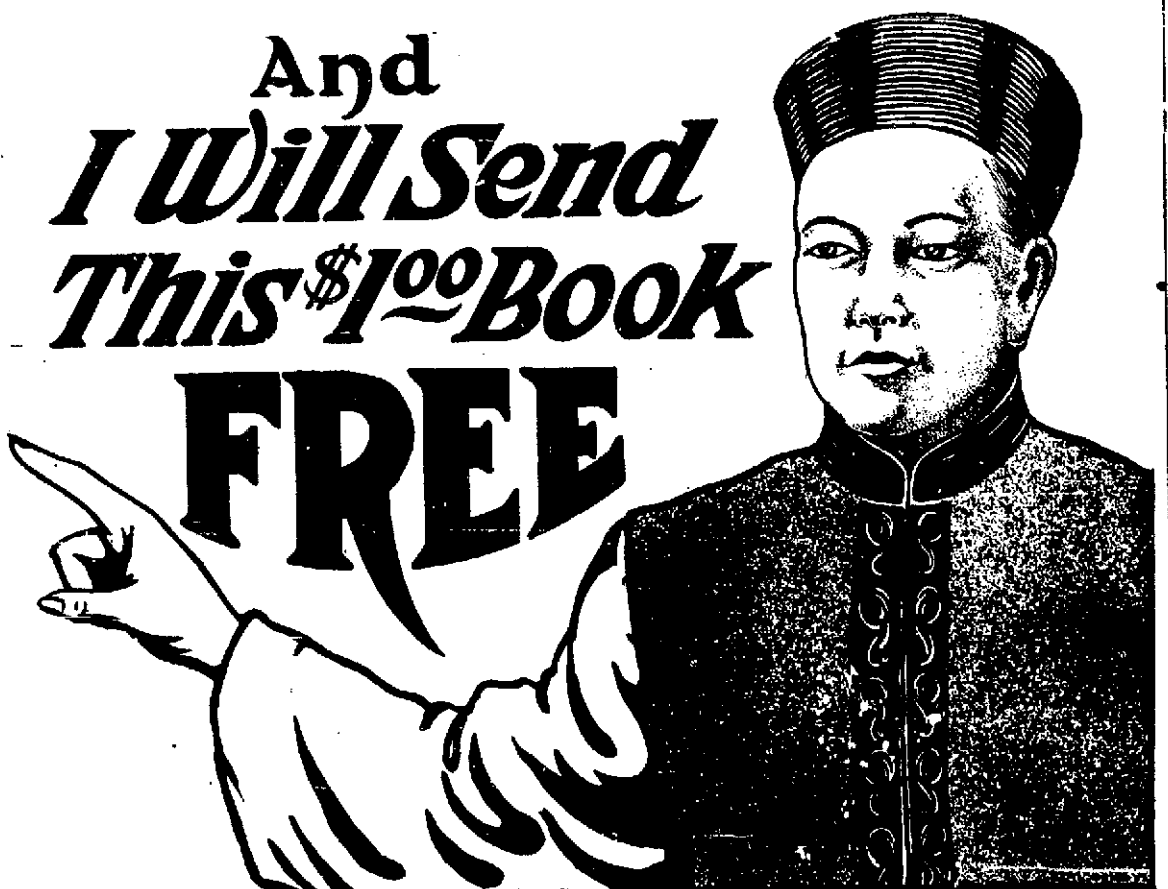

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Dear Doctor—I can say positively that I do not notice anything the matter with me since I finished the last course of treatment. The changes for the better in me physically are remarkable and I give the whole credit of the merits of your remedies. I remain your patient,
LOS ANGELES, CAL. LOUIS W. STROBEL.

Gained 20 Lbs.

Dr. Hee A. Wan, San Francisco, Cal.:
Dr. Wan—I received your letter to-day saying you had not received my report blank. I mailed it several days ago. I received the free treatment to-day which you sent me, so suppose you have received the report blank.
I am very much better than when you sent me my first treatment as I have gained 20 pounds. I think that just fine. I certainly recommend you to all my friends and will be a well girl in less time than I ever dreamed of. Anything you think I need send me and I will take it. Respectfully,
Pendleton, Ore. MISS SADIE A. WARDLEY.

1,000 Medical Books Free if You Write At Once. The price of this book is One Dollar, but as long as the free issue of 1,000 copies last I will send them Free, postage paid, to those who are sick and afflicted in any way. 64 pages of practical information and professional advice that every man and woman should know. It describes all diseases—explains all symptoms—gives the causes of diseases—tells how to prevent sickness and explains how a great many diseases can be cured in your own home. If you want to be well and remain well, this is the book for you and it is Free. Simply send me the coupon printed below and I will send you absolutely free, postage paid, this valuable Medical Book for the home—a One Dollar Book Free. Write at once before it is too late to accept this generous offer.

A Free Proof Treatment To each of the first 1,000 who apply I will send a free proof treatment. Not a patent medicine—not one remedy, but as many kinds of medical remedies as I find it advisable in your case—remedies to strike straight at your disease—constitutional remedies—remedies to tone up your general system—pure, effective and curative remedies that are the result of the most modern medical skill and science, combined with years of successful experience in thousands of cases. I have cured thousands of others. I want to prove that I can cure you.

Diseases I Treat I don't claim to cure cancer, leprosy, and other incurable diseases, but I do claim to cure and actually, positively do cure many diseases that others consider incurable. I have cured thousands of serious cases—many cases that others failed to cure. I want to prove what my treatment will do for you. A free proof treatment is the best possible test. I will send it without cost to you, I pay all charges. Will you be one of the 1,000 to accept this generous offer?

4,000 Years Old These remedies have been used in China for over 4,000 years, and the formulas have been handed down from father to son, generation after generation, until the present day. They have cured more men and women than any known modern treatment. The action of Chinese Herbs is entirely different from anything you have ever taken before and entirely unfamiliar to most American people. They quietly and stealthily creep through the meshes of your tissues, while you are working and while you are sleeping. Like friendly spirits they steal into the dark nooks and corners of the human anatomy, to expel the hobgoblins of disease, and like good fairies they always leave happiness in their wake. Remember, Dr. Wan is offering a proof treatment of these wonderful herbs ABSOLUTELY FREE. This is the opportunity you have been waiting for. Why hesitate about accepting it?

I Ask Nothing I will accept no pay, not one cent for the Books and Trial Treatments I have decided to give away. I want to prove that my treatment will do in your case what it has done in thousands of cases. By proving my skill to you, I hope to prove it to your friends and neighbors. If my treatment helps you—if it cures you, I want your good will—I want your gratitude—I want you to speak a kindly word for me to your sick friends when convenient to do so. This is all I ask. When I say Free I mean FREE.

My Success Is Your Gain My professional and financial success has been wonderful. I have succeeded beyond my fondest ambition in doing good in the world—in benefiting humanity. I have acquired a liberal share of worldly goods. For all this I am grateful—I am thankful. To show my gratitude, I propose to do this kindness to humanity. I propose to help the sick and suffering free of charge. I will positively give away 1,000 Home Medical Books and 1,000 Proof Treatments to the first 1,000 people who write to me. I don't care who you are, where you live, or whether you are rich or poor, if you need a practical medical book to guide you year after year—if you need medical attention for any disease curable by medical science—if you are sick or afflicted, I want to help you free. I can afford to send these 1,000 Books and Free Proof Treatments postage paid. Sit down right now and mail the coupon below. Be one of the fortunate 1,000!

Wonderful Chinese Herbs Disease need no longer strike terror to the hearts of those upon whom its blighting touch has fallen, for the healing power of these wonderful remedies is such that even those given up as incurable have been restored to health and happiness. These wonderful Chinese methods of treatment have stood the test of centuries and have enabled me to restore to health hundreds of sufferers who had lost all hope of regaining their full strength and vigor. Let me have an opportunity to prove at my own expense that my remedies will cure where all others fail. If you are weak and run down, if you feel the need of effective remedies to build you up, if you need medical attention for any disease whatsoever, fill out the coupon below AT ONCE and send it to me. By return mail you will receive a proof treatment of these wonderful Chinese "Nature remedies" in a plain wrapper, postage paid, absolutely free. Also a free copy of my new 64-page Medical Book containing information that will be useful and invaluable to you as long as you live. Do not put this off until to-morrow. To-morrow never comes.
